MAYOR WALKER and the German-Irish fliers were heard in Berlin and Dublin, as they exchanged politenesses in New York, 3,000 miles away. Radio has made the world small, and flying should make it friendly.

Those fliers will be able to tell Europe that this nation has put away bitter memories of the war.

THE Italians with Nobile on his second trip to the North Pole are building in the Caproni shops, at Milan, what will be the biggest heavier-than-air ship ever constructed. All metal, it will carry six engines of 1,000 horsepower each. An autocracy has its advantages. It can encourage the individual and get things done.

LADY MARY BAILEY landed in Cape Town yesterday, having flown alone from London, a long journey from foggy Britain to hot South Africa.

Flying, which demands coolness, balance and courage, but no great physical strength, opens a new field to women.

"WE" took their last flight yesterday when Lindbergh flew to Washington and delivered the Spirit of St. Louis to the Smithsonian Institution.

The ship, built by the Wright brothers, first heavier than air machine that ever carried passengers, should be in the Smithsonian also, instead of being sent to Great Britain. However, it doesn't matter, the glory of achievement cannot be exported.

RELIGIOUS faith gives consolation but sometimes it causes worry.

News from Morocco tells of two Moors guillitoned for murder. They wept, showing intense distress and sorrow when told their heads were to be chopped off. Mohammed says a body with a head cut off can't enter paradise.

IN THE great Indian rebellion, when natives murdered many Englishmen, religion played its part. The rebellion started when the natives were obliged to bite cartridges smeared with pig fat. Many of the guilty were executed by being fired from cannon, their bodies blown to pieces. In that condition they couldn't possibly carry out their after-death plans.

CHRISTIANITY is kinder. It teaches that the dust of the grave and the biting of the worms do not prevent rising in the flesh, "as you were."

ONE HUNDRED men, women and children found mummified in a cave in Mexico, are believed to have been buried alive. Contortions of the dried bodies showed acute suffering before death. Some mummies were tied together by their thumbs.

THE dead may have been offered as sacrifices to some ancient Mexican god to placate a demon regulating earthquakes. The Chinese believe in an earth dragon and are careful not to disturb him. Mexicans came originally from Asia.

AMONG barbarous peoples as described by Reclus in his "Man and the Earth," sentencing the old to death when they became useless was a common practice. Old Eskimos were made to enter an ice hut, the entrance then blocked with ice and nature left to take her course.

We are more civilized and simply leave the old to worry in poverty or die slowly in a poorhouse when their useful days are over.

"TO discourage vice, make it expensive!"

That was the old poker player's remark, as he "raised." To discourage stock speculation, the money powers make money expensive, and that plan works.

Yesterday "Call Money" went to 6 per cent, discouraging some. It did not, however, discourage the speculators in oil stocks. They went sailing up. The oil wagon is the vehicle of the hour.

POSTMASTER GENERAL NEW calls Secretary Hoover a true American, saying:

"No man has done more to demonstrate American intelligence and capacity."

The statement that Hoover "has leanings toward Great Britain" makes the British laugh. It was Hoover that first detected and exploded the British rubber trust that was to take hundreds of millions a year from the Yankees.

BRITAIN notifies Egypt, nominally independent, but with several strings attached, that Egypt must obey Britain in big things. Egyptian claims to rule in Afghanistan are offensive to Britain, which pacified the Afghans. That's especially impportant, now that great Afghan gold fields are reported.

THE British mean what they say and have ordered the Mediterranean fleet to proceed to Egypt, which will also be pacified, if necessary.

LOWER ALLEGHENY

Unrelentingly the waters of Pittsburgh's rivers creep over their banks today as the city awaits a flood stage of 25 feet, predicted by Weather Forecaster Brotzman. Above are Baltimore and Ohio tracks along the Lower Allegheny, near the Point.

SPREADS

Flooded areas in streets and buildings along the river bank here are possibilities as the water rises and spreads. In past river flood seasons the North Side area has suffered flood damage across from here, near the new Sixth Street Bridge.

INUNDATED

By noon the waters had not yet increased to serious depth, but many properties along the river banks in Pittsburgh as well as in up-river boroughs and towns were inundated. Here again are Baltimore and Ohio tracks along the Allegheny banks.

SinclairCo. Has Slush Bonds

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Harry F. Sinclair, recently acquitted at the Teapot Dome oil trial, today told the Senate oil inquiry that he received $757,000 of the Continental Trading Company's $3,080,000 Liberty bond "slush fund."

Sinclair told of holding the bonds for five or six years and of turning them over in the last 10 days to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company. He then destroyed all records he had kept of the bonds.

Sinclair said he turned the bonds over to his company only after he was acquitted here.

The board of directors of the Sinclair Crude Oil Company accepted the bonds at a meeting held within the last 10 days.

Sinclair also told of lending $100,000 in securities to Will H. Hays, former Republican national chairman and now czar of moviedom, to help him cover his stock market losses. Sinclair said Hays repaid him later.

NEW CASTLE WOMAN MISSIONARY IS HOME

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 1.—Miss Elizabeth Hay, Baptist missionary to India for 12 years, has returned to her home here.

6 Drowned in Monongahela

MASONTOWN, Pa., May 1.—Six persons were drowned in the swollen Monongahela River late last night when a skiff conveying them from Gray's Landing to Alicia Mine No. 2 capsized as it was about to land.

Miss Zenith Gaddis, 20, a school teacher, and five unidentified Negroes—a mother and her two children, a man and a boy—lost their lives in the muddy current.

The Gaddis girl and her sister Mary, 18, swam half a mile before the older one sank. Mary saved herself by clinging to the overhanging bough of a tree. She was found marooned in the branches several hours later.

Robert Kennedy, ferryman, was dragged from the water unconscious. He was revived in the home of Supt. James Curry, of Alicia Mine 2.

Curry's two daughters, Mildred, 22, and Lilliani, 7, probably escaped with their lives by declining to enter the crowded skiff on the fatal trip.

One version of the accident is that the skiff, used instead of the ferry flatboat because of the high water, struct a wire of the flatboat and overturned. Another is that a Negro occupant upset the skiff as he leaped to a landing.

Vote Count Open to Full View

Half a dozen clerks of the returning board, opening primary envelopes in judges' chambers, were ordered "into the open" today, following complaint by organizations keeping tab on the count.

Attorney William McNaugher, for the election committee of the bar association, and Attorneys Simon Patterson and Francis S. Guthrie, for the Allegheny County Elections Association, protested against members of the return board being out of sight of the watchers. Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, supervising the count, at once ordered them into the big room with other members of the board.

Carmen Hill is ready to take up the hurling burden for the Pirates as they hook up with the Chicago Cubs in the second game of the series at Forbes Field this afternoon. Chicago, anxious to avenge the defeat suffered yesterday, will counter with Guy Bush, another sterling right hander.

The Buccos are in a splendid frame of mind today and are eager to make it two in a row over the Windy City crew. Yesterday's victory, close and thrilling as it was, served to buoy up the Pittsburgh morale. Adam Comorosky's work, both in the field and at the plate, has added power to the Pirate punch, and the Flying Pole is certain to get the first call for the left field job as long as he continues to show the pep and ginger he displayed yesterday.

The resumption of the Cuyler-Adams duel, in which the little Pittsburgh second-sacker came off best yesterday, adds no little glamour to today's clash.

RIVERS AT 24-FOOT STAGE

The crest of the rise in the local rivers will be reached at 4 o'clock this afternoon, Forecaster Brotzman announced the crest would be slightly higher than the 25-foot flood stage. At 3 p. m. today the stage was 24.8 and slowly rising.

The Allegheny is practically stationary and the Youghiogheny is falling. Up the Monongahela the river was reported falling at Fairmont this morning, although rises were noted at stations between there and Pittsburgh. There is not sufficient volume of water being emptied into the Monongahela to cause much more than a flood stage of 25 feet, Brotzman said.

2 Dancers Spurn Stage

Albert Bonach and his dancing partner, Cora Dear, are going back to their old jobs, Bonach announced today. Bonach said he had turned down a stage contract involving the three Marathon dance couples, because the figures mentioned were not as high as it was publicly announced in Motor Square Garden would be offered.

The other two couples signed for appearance at a downtown theater, where, it was said, the three couples were offered $2,500 for two weeks.

BREMEN FLIERS' GREETING

"Jimmy" Walker, coloratura of blase Broadway, had a new "thrill" yesterday. He was kissed—resoundingly, too, mind you—by the wife of a German aviator. And thousands of New Yorkers, thousands of the more than 2,000,000 who roared Broadway's welcome to the first conquerors of the Atlantic from the east to the west, thundered their approval. "Jimmy," unabashed, dodged—yes, dodged! but very slightly—when Frau Hermann Koehl, while her captain-husband watched, "did the honors." The Mayor's pain's above.

LINDY HOPS IN JUNE BY FAR NORTH

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has completed his plans for a flight across the Atlantic and an aerial tour of Europe and probably Asia this summer, it became known here today.

The transoceanic flight will b made in four hops and will follo a far-northern route. The hop-off from the North American continent will probably be made from St. John's, Newfoundland, early in June.

TO FLY FORD PLANE

The flight will be made in [illegible] tri-motored, all-metal ai plane. Lindbergh will probably be accompanied by Maj. Thomas G. La nphier, commanding officer of the First Pursuit Squadron of the Army Air Corps, although, according to information available here, this h not been finally decided.

Formal announcement of the flight may await the return to this country of Henry Ford, now in Europe. The Ford offices in Detroit however, already intimate plans for the flight have bee pleted and an itinerary decided

UNION AND MORROW IN SENATE ROW

By MAX HENRICI,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Heated debates between officials of the United Mine Workers of America and J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, testifying before the United States Senate, marked today's session of the coal strike investigation.

The employment of private detectives in the nonunion mines, tales of sabotage since the abrogation of the Jacksonville agreement and Morrow's charges that the union opposed labor-saving devices in the mines brought spirited addresses from John L. Lewis, president, and Phillip Murray, vice president of the Mine Workers.

DENY POLITICS

At the outset Attorney Oliver K. Eaton, representing the Mine Workers, asked Morrow whether the Pittsburgh Coal Company had paid taxes of employes at Hill Station and McDonald, Washington county, to gain control of local politics. Morrow denied the charge, and he was joined in his denial by C. E. Lesher, another official of the coal company. Eaton then told the senators he would produce affidavits from tax collectors to substantiate his accusations.

Continuing his cross-examination, Eaton asked Morrow to reveal the name of the detective agency employed by the company, but this Morrow and Lesher refused to do. Attorney Don Rose, representing the company, objected, declaring that the Pittsburgh Coal Company was fighting the union and had been for three years and was entitled to protect its interests by the employment of de-

Brothers Hurt in Crashes, Meet In Hospital

ROCHESTER, Pa., May 1.—Albert Rieth, 21, and his brother, William J. Rieth, 19, of 490 Jackson street, were injured at almost the same hour and in the same manner although at widely separated points. Albert sustained a broken leg when his motorcycle collided with an automobile at Monaca. William had a similar accident at Aliquippa and met his brother in the Rochester General Hospital.

LEAGUE RE-ENTERS VICE WAR

MOVE PUTS 3 UNITS IN CLEAN-UP FIGHT

Three separate organizations are at work in Pittsburgh with the avowed purpose of ridding the city of commercialized vice.

Sunday night's protest meeting under the auspices of the East End Ministerial Association resolved itself into the second agency determined to stamp out lawlessness, a similar meeting having been held with 22 churches participating in the North Side the previous week. Twenty-five churches took part in the East End meeting.

The third organization, one from which little has been heard for several months, is the Citizens' League. William J. Kane, new director of the league, said today he has been working quietly and indicated that before long the war on vice would be taken up publicly again.

A meeting of the North Side ministers is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon in the North Side Y. M. C. A. and indications are that the matter of carrying on the war on vice will be taken up, but the secretary, the Rev. Dr. S. G. Noble, was out of town today and nobody could state authoritatively what the purpose of tomorrow's meeting would be.

The Rev. Dr. J. Alvin Orr, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church of Allegheny, expressed hope that the determination of citizens to stamp out vice would spread to other districts and asserted he thought it would be a splendid idea for the East End committee and the North Side body to get together for the formulation of some definite program to achieve this end.

"SPIRIT" COMES TO REST

The "Spirit of St. Louis," the world's best-known airplane, has come to its final hangar. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh flew it from St. Louis to Washington, where it will be wheeled beside the planes of yesteryear in Smithsonian Institution's collection.

Kills Self With Gun In Crash

BUTLER, Pa., May 1.—(Special.)—Following a crash near Walkchalk, five miles west of Kittanning, yesterday, in which his automobile was demolished but from which he escaped with a slight cut on the leg, Deputy Coroner Carl K Key, 24, of Butler, drew a revolver and fired into his right temple, dying instantly.

Dusen Terbovitch, 26, also of Butler, who was riding with Key, was injured and taken to Kittanning Hospital. He was too stunned to give police an account of how the crash occurred and asserted for a time that his name was "James Morgan."

Key's car ran off the road into a culvert, then collided with a car driven by R. H. Painter, of Walkchalk. Key is then said to have told Painter, "everything is all [illegible]; I have insurance," after [illegible] he stepped out and fired the shot.

CLAIMS $65,000 BRIDGE EXTRAS

Claiming that the specifications were changed 33 times after their bid had been submitted, the Joseph T. Neolan Company, contractors for the sub-structure of the California Avenue Bridge, is claiming $65,000 from the city for extra work.

Director of Public Safety Edward G. Lang, insisting that the changes were comparatively minor ones, declared today that the claim is three times too high. The original bid of the company was $67,000.

The bridge was completed last May, but the matter has not yet been adjusted.

MRS. MARGARET H. BOWERS

A house divided against itself is the state of the home of Mrs. Margaret H. Bowers, Bellevue. She charges cruel and barbarous treatment.

A CITY MAD

New York yesterday was a city mad, excited as it was when Lindbergh, after his epochal flight, reached there from Paris. More than 2,000,000 roared "welcome" to the fliers along their route through Broadway's canyons and tons of confetti fluttered down on the fliers' car. Thousands of police were necessary to save them from the zeal of an idolizing and, to them, a warm city. New York's reception has amazed these modest fellows.

WIVES ARRIVE

Wives of the Bremen fliers, receiving almost unequalled plaudits in New York, arrived in this country yesterday aboard the SS. Dresden. Here they are, aboard the official reception steamer, "City of New York:" Patricia, Fitzmaurice's daughter (front); Frau Hermann Koehl, Mrs. Clarence Chamberlin (center), who greeted them, and Mrs. James Fitzmaurice (right).

SYMPHONY WAR UP TO FISHER

HARRISBURG, May 1.—Representatives of the Lord's Day Alliance today asked Gov. John S. Fisher to have the commonwealth intervene in the suit brought by the Sabbath Association against the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra.

The case has been argued before the Superior Court and the Lord's Day Alliance wants the commonwealth to add its weight to their case.

John Robert Jones, a former attorney general, and the Rev. William B Forney, both of whom have been active in bringing prosecutions for violation of the Sunday blue laws, presented the case to the Governor and Attorney General Thomas J. Baldridge.

The Governor instructed the Attorney General to consider the request.

Forney last week appeared before the State Board of Pardons in the interest of Richard L. Raleigh, a detective employed by the Alliance, who is under a suspended sentence for conspiracy.

MORROW, UNION IN ROW

tectives when it believed such action necessary

At this point Lewis broke in with the bitter denunciation:

"Pittsburgh Coal Company detectives are a cancer in the industrial life of Pittsburgh."

He said these detectives were responsible for much of the unhappiness and the miners were entitled to know who was spying on them.

SPYING DISCLAIMED

Morrow replied that the detectives were not used to spy on the union men and declared they were employed in the mines as miners to see that superintendents and foremen treated the nonunion employes fairly. Turning to Lewis, he demanded to know how many "spies" the union had "planted" in the Pittsburgh Coal Company mines and implied indirectly that he believed the union men to be responsible for the destruction of property and other acts of sabotage since the strike began.

To this implied accusation, both Lewis and Murray arose and made fiery speeches, branding such implication as "maliciously false." A short time later the two United Mine Workers' officials again took the floor to deny Morrow's charges that the union opposed the importation of labor-saving devices in the mines.

"These charges are unqualifiedly untrue," Lewis declared heatedly.

Just before the noon recess Morrow brought up the matter of freight rates and declared he believed the low Southern rates were deliberately designed to favor the West Virginia operators at the expense of Pittsburgh interests.

"That is a very serious charge," Senator Hugo L. Black, of Alabama, declared, rising to his feet.

"On what do you base it?"

"On the rates themselves," replied Morrow.

'Took No Money' —Brophy

"Lew McGrew's story," declared John Brophy, chairman of the national "Save the Union" committee, "so far as it concerns me, is false. The first and only time I ever saw Vitchestain was at the ministerial coal seminar last Wednesday. I have had no dealings whatsoever at any time with him, neither have I had any dealings of any kind with the Pittsburgh Coal Company."

Lewis McGrew, editor of the Labor World, local labor paper, testified before the Senate probers yesterday that he had seen Brophy take money from J. H. Vitchestain, editor of the Labor Tribune, said to have been representing the Pittsburgh Coal Company. McGrew charged collusion between the faction represented by Brophy and the coal operators. He said the "Save the Union" committee was being led by W. Z. Foster.

Brophy said, "so far as I know, Foster is not a member." The insurgent leader could not answer for the Pennsylvania and Ohio Relief, declaring the "Save the Union" organization and the relief body were two separate organizations.

Foster, Brophy pointed out, is a member of the union the same as Powers Hapgood and many others of liberal mind, socialistic principles and communistic tendencies.

"I do not believe in the Communist doctrine," Brophy declared.

Denying he had paid any money to Brophy, Vitchestain said it was a compliment to be attacked by McGrew.

"I never met Brophy until the clergymen's seminar in Smithfield street Methodist Episcopal Church last week," said Vitchestain. "Once I had a conversation with Brophy over the telephone, but otherwise I never was close enough to have any financial transactions with him. In our telephone conversation he told me he had campaigned with United States Senator Wheeler."

CALIFORNIA VOTE HELD PIVOT

International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—The eyes of the nation were on California today as her citizens trekked to the polls to record their preference for President.

The Republicans are agreed on Herbert Hoover, but today's primary vote will serve as an official indorsement of the delegation pledged to support him at Kansas City.

It is within the Democratic ranks that primary assumes national significance. California democracy is divided among three leading candidates for the nomination. The winner, political observers believe, will be a good bet at Houston.

The Democratic issue in California is open and clear cut. It is perhaps the only one in the United States which is sharply defined upon the rival claims of Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York; Senator James a Reed, of Missouri, and Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, for convention support.

EACH PUT UP TICKET

Each of these candidates for the presidential nomination have a specifically pledged delegation in this primary battle from which the party will choose.

Leading the Smith contingent is former United States Senator James D. Phelan. Opposed to Phelan is William Gibbs McAdoo, leader of the Senator Walsh faction. Oddly enough, Phelan is the man who placed McAdoo in nomination four years ago in New York against Gov. Smith.

The McAdoo-Walsh combine represents the "dry" wing of California Democracy. Should they win, it is admitted they will form a nucleus around which the "drys" will rally at Houston in an effort to defeat New York's popular Governor.

But also very much in the fight is Senator Reed, the fiery Missourian. The "militant Missourian" has made his campaign in California upon the claim to recognition which his supporters declare is his by right of so many years of faithful service to his party. They emphasize that Senator Reed stands for "fundamental democracy."

Wrecks Car, Kills Self

CARL K. KEY

Uninjured after a crash which wrecked his automobile near Walkchalk (Pa.), Carl K. Key, 24, deputy coroner, Butler county, drew a pistol and killed himself. He suffered a fractured skull in a wreck a year ago and is believed to have been suffering from a neurotic fear of automobile crashes. Dusen Terbovitch, 26, Butler, was injured in the crash and taken to Kittanning Hospital. Key is reported to have been engaged to a student nurse at Butler County Hospital.

TO QUIZ M'GREW ON JURY FIXING

"I will summon Mr. McGrew to learn what evidence he has to substantiate the charges he made before the Senate coal strike investigating committee," declared District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner today regarding statements of jury fixing made yesterday at Washington by Lewis McGrew, editor of the Labor World, this city.

"I am anxious to unearth any evidence that tends to show jury fixing in this county," said the prosecutor. "I cannot say what will be done until I learn what is back of the charges. I know nothing at present other than what I have read in the papers."

M'GREW'S CHARGES

McGrew charged that Don Rose, counsel for the Pittsburgh Coal Company, had "fixed juries."

"You've been a 'fixer' ever since you became attorney for the Pittsburgh Coal Company. You can't deny that 'Buttsy' Joyce is your jury fixer," charged McGrew.

"I never fixed a jury in my life," replied Rose, "and there's nothing to any of this."

An emphatic denial of the jury-fixing charges was voiced last night by Thomas A. ("Buttsy") Joyce, now a tipstaff in Common Pleas Court since leaving the employ of the Pittsburgh Coal Company about two and one-half years ago.

JOYCE DENIES CHARGE

"Don Rose never engaged in any attempts at jury-fixing as attorney for the coal company, nor did I," asserted Joyce. "Everybody knows he is not that kind of man. People who know me for years know that I would not be guilty of such a thing. These charges are laughable to me and I absolutely deny them. I worked in the law department of the coal company for about 14 years, starting about 1912. I had nothing to do with juries. I was an investigator in the law department concerned with litigation growing out of damage claims. I grew tired of the work and when a position as tipstaff was offered me about two and one-half years ago I took it."

Joyce declined to discuss at this time any motive for the charges made by Louis McGrew, editor of the Labor World of Pittsburgh, testifying before the Senate committee, but said he may have something to say about it later.

"If Lewis McGrew has any information of any attempts of jury fixing in cases pertaining to Federal Court, he is earnestly invited to appear next week before the Federal grand jury which will be sitting for the May term of court," said United States Attorney John D. Meyer today.

LINDY GIVES UP PLANE FOR NATION'S RELIC

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP.)—Barely a year old but rested little between flights equal in distance to almost twice around the earth, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's famous "Spirit of St. Louis" remained under strict guard at Bolling Field today awaiting placement alongside other pioneer scientific works in the Smithsonian Institution.

The great silver plane that blazed the first aerial passage connecting the North American and European continents May 21, 1927, and since then has raised its mileage to more than 40,000, made its last long hop yesterday when Lindbergh, its lone pilot on all its great voyages, flew here from St. Louis. The 725 miles was covered in four hours and 53 minutes.

Just when the plane will be installed has not been decided. Dr. Charles G. Abott, secretary of the Institution, said it might be a week or two before the building which houses the Langley model is made ready for it. May 21, the anniversary of Lindbergh's New York to Paris flight, has been reported as a date for the formal presentation, but the flier said he would not be in Washington then.

MET BY HONOR GUARD

Coming down gracefully at its last airport shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, "We" found 30 army planes "on the line" at Bolling Field, as if ready to receive an honored guest. Two other planes stopping here en route to Langley Field for maneuvers flanked her as she approached the landing and swept aside as she planed to earth.

Lindy, wearing a gray suit and flying helmet, then taxied the ship to a hangar, sat still a moment as if reluctant to part with his friend of the heights, and then gathered some baggage, including a blue sweater, before climbing out.

After posing for photographs, Lindbergh walked slowly around the plane and all he could be heard to say was, "Yes, I am sorry." He told those standing by that while the ship had flown more than 40,000 miles, it easily could "carry on" for another 40,000.

UNDER CLOSE GUARD

Two enlisted men took up guard duty beside the "Spirit of St. Louis." They were Private Philip H. Mackenzie and Sergt. Roy W. Hooe, chief mechanic at the field. The former was instructed by Lindbergh to keep the curious away from the ship.

Hooe, who had directed the care of the plane on many of its trips to Washington, stood by the craft for several minutes without saying a word. Close to him was W. H. Spicer of Baltimore, who has been installing night lights on Lindbergh's new Ryan monoplane, who broke the silence with a plaintive:

"The old girl flies no more."

"Nope," Hooe returned slowly, "this is her last. I hate to see her go."

"Boy," Spicer said, "He sure hated to see her go, too. You can believe that."

Hooe said he would not remain out of sight of the plane, if he could help it, until it is placed in the Smithsonian Institution.

While precautions are being taken at Bolling Field to guard the craft, a proposal that it be housed in a glass case at the institution for protection has been taken under consideration, but as this arrangement would cost about $20,000 it might have to be dispensed with. Guard rails alone, it is believed, would not be adequate.

MELLON MAY HEAD STATE DELEGATES

Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon probably will be named chairman of the Pennsylvania delegation to the Republican convention at the caucus to be held in Philadelphia May 12, it was said in political circles here today. The Secretary headed the delegation at the 1924 convention.

The caucus will be held following the meeting of the Republican State Committee. Advance interest in the meeting is centered principally upon the question of whether W. L. Mellon, nephew of the Secretary, intends to seek re-election.

"I have nothing to say about that or other details of the meeting," said Mellon last night, adding that he desired to discuss the question with leaders from all sections of the state before making any statement. The question of a secretary to the committee to succeed the late W. Harry Baker has not yet been decided, he said.

"Will Senator George Wharton Pepper be renamed to the national committee?" he was asked.

"That's another thing I can't discuss until I have talked the matter over with party leaders," he said.

NO BAD ODOR, SAYS ENGLISH OF PLANT

Residents of the Spring Garden avenue section will be given a hearing tomorrow in Council chambers on their protest against plans which they say the North Side Packing Company is making to install machinery to produce odorous fertilizers.

Residents, including members of the Parent-Teachers' Association, visited Council yesterday and indulged in warm conversation with Councilman W. Y. English, who is secretary of the packing company and whose president is Edward Townsend, superintendent of city property.

English assured the visitors no objectionable odors would result from the company's products and promised to prove his statement at tomorrow's meeting.

Thousands Favor Vote Machine; Four Oppose

Eighty-three thousand persons in three counties have seen a voting machine demonstrated by Mrs. Lula Mosby since January 1 and only four have voiced objection to its use in place of the ballot box, Mrs. Mosby declared last night as she made preporations to demonstrate it to other thousands.

Mrs. Mosby has toured Greene, Washington, Indiana and part of Blair county addressing scores of clubs, civic bodies, church groups and other organizations. She was able to answer the objections to the use of the machine advanced by the four objectors, Mrs. Mosby said. Her next trip will take her into Somerset county.

BOULEVARD CLAIMS BOOSTED $250,000

A deluge of appeals, totaling over $250,000, from the awards of viewers on properties affected by the extension of the Boulevard of the Allies from Forbes street to Craft avenue, today, almost swamped the machinery of Common Pleas Court. The time for filing appeals expired last night, and this morning every docket in the prothonotary's office showed signs of the flood.

Twenty-four suits had been filed by property owners. Three were filed by the city in cases where it was felt the award had been too high. Damages awarded by viewers totaled $627,105. About one-fourth appealed.

CITY DEMANDS CUT

The largest claim is that of David Hirsh, one end of whose large property at Craft place and Craft avenue is to be taken for the new boulevard. The viewers awarded him $102,000. He says his damages will be greater than this amount while the city filed a counter suit saying the damages will not exceed $79,000.

Bishop Hugh C. Boyle filed a suit for the St. Hyacinth Church, which had been awarded $15,000 damages. He claims damage of $99,000. The Children's Hospital, across whose property the new boulevard will run, was awarded $44,000 and sued for $55,000.

J. G. Christie, awarded $84,510, will be damaged only $60,000, according to an appeal taken by the city. The city also appealed the award of $26,500 to John Hohman, claiming he will be damaged only $20,000. Hohman, on the other hand, entered an appeal claiming his damages will be $45,000. On another property owne by Hohman in which he was awarded $7,750, he claims $18,000.

INCREASES DEMANDED

The other appeals follow: Harry M. Aronson, awarded $852, claims $3,278; Samuel Modell, awarded $1,425, claims $4,500; Simon Brasley, awarded $1,112, claims $2,500; Cornelia C. Triplett, awarded $3,860, claims $9,928; Peter H. Lind, awarded nothing, claims damages; Harry C. Hackmeister, awarded nothing, claims damages; Matty E. Meyer, awarded $1,758, claims greater damages; Peoples Savings and Trust Company, awarded $2,000, claims $6,500; Freedom Oil Works Company, awarded nothing, claims $50,000; Alexander, J. T. and Mary McDonald, awarded $3,989, claim $12,000; Mary E. Haley and Elizabeth Hughes, awarded $2,185, claim $7,500; J. G. Christie, awarded $84,510, claims $100,000; Frank J. Crahan, awarded $8,200 and $3,250, respectively, claims $16,000 and $8,000; Anna Coyne, awarded $8,400, claims $16,000; estate of A. D. Anderson, awarded $50, claims $15,000; Jacob and Leah Fineberg, awarded $4,249, claims greater damages; Bessie Barton, awarded $1,220, claims greater damages.

EUROPE CELEBRATES

LONDON, May 1.—(INS.)—May Day was observed throughout Europe today with parades, demonstrations and a general cessation of work. The observance had taken on a menacing aspect in some places, notably in Vienna and Budapest, where the Communists threatened trouble.

A strong force of police was on duty to prevent disorders.

MORE REDSKINS FOR PARKS

Chiefs Big Beaver and Eagle Ribs, Blackfeet, with their wives and families are en route here from the Indian reservation at Browning, Mont., to establish themselves in the county's North and South parks. The Redskins are due to arrive tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock.

The Indians will set up villages in each of the parks exact replicas of villages on the reservation. The bringing of the warriors and their families was arranged by County Commissioner E. V. Babcock and Paul B. Riis, director of county parks.

The Redskins on arriving here will find at least three other members of their tribe. Mayor Charles H. Kline, while in the West, was made an honorary member of the Blackfeet tribe and dubbed Ironbreast. R. E. Cook and Walter S. McClintock, are two other honorary members, the former Tall Eagle and the latter White Weasel.

Two pair of black squirrels and two throughbred horses have been added to the animal life of the park. The ssuirrels, a rare species, were donated by Capt. Henry W. Busch, commissioner of parks and boulevards, Detroit. Joseph H. Moore, local broker, presented the horses.

Will Asks Even Break in Air Crash News

WILL ROGERS

SALINA, Kan., May 1.—When will the newspapers commence giving aviation an even break? There were eight people killed all over America in planes Sunday and it was headlined in every newspaper yesterday. If there was a single state that didn't get that many in automobiles yesterday, it was simply because they fell below their average.

I see where Tunney has gone into training for that fellow Heeney. He trained on Shakespeare and Homer for Dempsey, but he just took a set of Zane Grey and Harold Bell Wright to to get himself in condition for Heeney.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Presidential Candidates Should Adopt the Frank & Seder Economy Platform

Herbert HOOVER
Gov. "Al" SMITH
Vice-Pres DAWES
James A. REED
Frank O. LOWDEN
Gov. RITCHIE
Norman THOMAS

Never have candidates been so shy of issues. And the one they have, "Wet" or "Dry," they shy at. Many of them would like to moisten the "dry" issue without getting it "wet."

But it is always safe to stand on an Economy Platform. Everybody is prepared to support it. How to increase the buying power of the pay envelope is the big issue in every man's life. So we have a suggestion to make:

Frank & Seder invite all the candidates to attend our Birthday Celebration and to see for themselves an Economy Campaign in action. And then they will realize that the nation is interested more in saving money than in any other issue!

If Every Family Is in Earnest About Saving Money, We'll Need Police Reserves to Handle the Crowds.

Isn't it strange that so many people TALK ECONOMY and yet when the opportunity comes to practice it they refuse to accept it? One would imagine that if a person could buy something he wanted for fifty cents he wouldn't pay a dollar. But human nature is queer. During our BIRTHDAY SALE, which begins on Thursday, we are going to sell hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of merchandise that the public NEEDS at much less than prevailing prices. And while an army of thrifty people will take advantage of the savings, yet we know that others will buy elsewhere and pay more. Yes, human nature is queer.

Budget Buying Plan for Men's Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothing Promoted Better Dressing Among Men

Store Notes

Frank & Seder employ some fifteen hundred men and women, and this organization is prepared to welcome you as always, with efficient and courteous service.

Our employes, in co-operation with the firm, have established a FRANK & SEDER BENEFICIAL ASSOCIATION for welfare work.

Frank & Seder have a thoroughly equipped dispensary in charge of a competent physician, and a nurse always in attendance to diagnose and treat employes who are sick—and to give emergency treatment to customers who may be taken ill in the store.

Customers will save time if they note the system of elevator service we have introduced for their convenience. An express elevator at the Diamond street entrance takes you directly to the Fourth floor Men's and Boys' departments. Another express elevator takes you without stop to the Sixth floor Rug and Drapery department. Still another takes you direct to the Fifth floor Yard Goods departments, Credit and General offices. By noting these various Express Elevators, you will help yourself and help our service during the Birthday celebration.

We would also appreciate customers taking small purchases with them during the Birthday Sale, as our delivery system will be taxed to its capacity.

When Frank & Seder, following the plan of some of the finest Men's stores in the country, introduced the Budget Payment Plan, there was considerable discussion as to its merit. But when we pointed out that men could purchase a Hart Schaffner & Marx suit or topcoat at the regular cash price and pay for it in TEN WEEKS the value of the plan became manifest. It was the first time that SERVICE was emphasized in a deferred payment plan. Not a single penny more does the Budget Buying Plan customer pay than the customer who pays cash or charges it in a regular way. A great many men holding responsible positions find themselves faced with unexpected household expenses—sickness, or one thing or another—and money that had been reserved for clothes has to be diverted to this new obligation. So the head of the household either has to postpone the buying of his new suit or he decides to buy a cheaper one than he had wanted to because he cannot afford to pay out very much cash. By using our Budget Buying Plan this same man could select a fine Hart Schaffner & Marx garment—guaranteed as to style and wearability—pay $10 at the time of purchase and the remainder over a period of ten weeks.

And he wears his suit while he is paying for it. He has a good suit that will outwear two of the cheap suits he had expected to buy and there is no burden on the family purse. During our Birthday Sale we will offer Hart Schaffner & Marx suits and topcoats at SPECIAL PRICES and give you the opportunity to purchase then, if desired, at the SALE PRICES on the TEN PAYMENT BUDGET BUYING PLAN.

Frank & Seder Buying Organization Worked Six Months to Get Birthday Bargains

It's the easiest thing in the world for a store buyer to go to the market and buy merchandise at regular prices—that sort of a transaction can be completed very quickly. But when he has to obtain BARGAINS in WANTED, SEASONABLE MERCHANDISE, that's a different story. So our staff of buyers, working closely with our New York Resident Buyers, have been in the markets from time to time for the past SIX MONTHS collecting BIRTHDAY VALUES from manufacturers. And the results of this long and careful planning and preparation will be reflected in the extraordinary savings featured in this TEN-DAY SELLING EVENT.

FRANK AND SEDER'S

Every Means of Transportation (Aeroplanes, Railroad Trains, Street Cars, Buses, Private Automobiles, Taxicabs) Will Be Drafted Into Service Thursday to Move the Great Thrift Army to Frank & Seder's!

Every year this BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION takes on more and more the aspect of a COMMUNITY CELEBRATION—and you would be surprised to see how the street cars, buses, as well as suburban trains are crowded during this TEN-DAY EVENT. Men and women come from a radius of a HUNDRED MILES to make their purchases at FRANK & SEDER. And the transportation companies will do well to plan their schedules with this in mind, particularly on Thursday, the opening day of our 10th BIRTHDAY SALE. It so happens that we have the most centrally located store in Pittsburgh—easily accessible from every city and suburban point.

The reason that we do the business of the town during this BIRTHDAY SALE is because families can buy wanted, seasonable, stylish merchandise of quality cheaper than elsewhere. That's all there is to it—but that's enough—everybody's interested in saving money and when you have to fix up your home for Spring and Summer—and dress the kiddies—and take care of the apparel needs of Dad and Mother—it makes a dent in the family purse. So families that have to THINK before they spend find in this once-a-year event the opportunity they have been waiting for to supply their needs at great savings.

While Frank & Seder are recognized for outstanding values, yet we couldn't make a regular practice of featuring such extraordinary bargains as these. That's why we limit this sale to TEN DAYS.

We buy merchandise for LESS because manufacturers with whom we do business all the year 'round are glad to contribute something to show their appreciation of our patronage and their goodwill to the buying public of Pittsburgh. And we not alone pass over to the public what we save in our purchases but we increase YOUR SAVINGS by REDUCING our regular low profit. That is why we advertise and are prepared to back up the statement with the goods, that you can buy items here at COST—A LITTLE BELOW COST and A TRIFLE ABOVE COST. It has taken us months to assemble these Birthday offerings and you will see thousands of items throughout the entire store just as sensationally priced.

Drug stores, department stores and other mercantile establishments are co-operating with displays of posters, dentrifices and dental instruments. In the suburbs neighborhood theaters are displaying an educational moving picture film setting forth the importance of mouth health.

"Dancing Demons" Daintily Kicked Their Way to Glory In "The Red Widow" at Mosque

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

GEORGE SEIBEL

LET us hope that George White, he of the "Scandals," and Flo Ziegfeld, he of the "Follies," may not hear of the Dancing Demons, who last night kicked their way into the hearts of the large audience that came to Syria Mosque to see "The Red Widow," put on by the Kaufmann Players. If the aforesaid gentlemen discover the aforesaid damsels, Pittsburgh may be poorer and Broadway richer—for they would grace the pony ballet of any musical show.

They received such thunderous applause that the one Demon whose hat was too big and threatened to extinguish her, will probably have no trouble of the sort for the rest of the week—but will the hats of the other Demons fit them after their ovation?

The Sunshine Girls, too, who assisted the Demons in the serious business of pointing their toes toward 10:45 or 2:15 on the dial of an imaginary clock, are deserving of all the praise such arduous efforts will reap. In fact, the choruses, both in their vocal work and their dancing, would have been a credit to almost any professional troupe that comes westward from the Great White Way. And when we remember that they dispensed ribbons or soda or receipted bills all day long, this excursion into the realm of Thespis and Terpsichore seems quite as prodigious as the canoe-trip of the late Mr. Columbus. They have discovered a new world.

After saying so much about the minor stars of the twinkling toes, what is there left to say of the principals? For one thing, they have voices, and for another thing, they showed they could use them. It is a good singing cast—a very good singing cast. Then it must be admitted that they had looks and grace—they behaved as if they had been brought up in the spotlight. The speaking voice is harder to manage and place, while comedy requires other peculiar powers. It isn't Harry R. Mohr's fault that he hasn't got Raymond Hitchcock's face to play Hitchy's old role—and perhaps he's glad he hasn't. But he sang "All Dressed Up and Nowhere to Go" in a way that made up for the absence of Hitchy's countenance.

Everybody sang well—and why shouldn't they, with Gregorio Scalzo wielding the baton in masterly fashion. It went with vim and fire from first to last, and the costumes were as rich and elaborate as those of any professional production. Hardly a slip anywhere, except when the hero Basil in kissing the heroine Anna missed fire once. Practice will undoubtedly prevent a recurrence of this calamity.

There is nothing amateurish in the presentation of "The Red Widow," with Ada W. Minneman in the title role, while Ann Hirz played the part of Yvette, a dancer. Madelin Walsh, Richard Elvis, Harvey O. Stitz II, Harry R. Jacobson, Helen Replogle, Edward Jenkinson, Alan Gumbert, Judson Hare, Ray Brautigam and Jack Lagorio were cast in the other characters of the comedy, all receiving the hearty applause so welcome even to professionals.

The Dancing Demons deserve to be enrolled on the tablets of fame. Their names are Mabel Spangler, Helen Sullivan, Marguerite Orr, Leona Sauers, Mary Conley, Gertrude Frank, Ethel Mann and Goldye Wesoky. The Sunshine Dancers were Mildred Sturm, Daisy Gibbs, Emma Bartha, Helen Treumer, Agnes Huth, Betty Finegan, Ruth Schaefer, Alice Brown.

The comedy will be given each night this week, under the direction of Frank W. Shea, a professional director. It is being presented for the benefit of the Employes Beneficial and Protective Association.

GITZ RICE TOPS ALDINE BILL

Lieut. Gitz Rice, war hero and composer of many song hits, including "Dear Old Pal of Mine," tops the vaudeville bill in the Aldine this week. A group of Northwest Mounties helps the Lieutenant along with the harmony. Canadian songs and some "Hinkey Dinkey Parley Voo" verses are among the selections offered. There is some dancing also—by a girl named Marie. The act wins much applause. A clever display of ventriloquism is presented by Edgar Bergen, who does the voice-throwing against a background of a medical operating room. Eddie Stanley and the vivacious girl, Ginger, do well in an act of nonsense and dancing. Will J. Kennedy & Co. present a skit that has to do with a fellow who wants to be arrested. But no one will arrest him. Van Cello and Mary present a juggling act. The photoplay is "Let 'Er Go Gallagher," which presents the story of a heroic newspaper office boy. Junior Coghlan is the star. Short screen entertainment completes the bill.

"NIGHT LIFE IN PARIS" ACADEMY BURLESQUE

In "Night Life In Paris," this week's burlesque in the Academy, Charles (Tramp) McNally returns with a new comedy. In his "Lamp Post I New York" number he is assisted by the girls. La Villa Maye, a soubret, entertains with songs and specialties. George Selden, wields the tamborine skillfully in a specialty. "Jazzmonia by the Sea" is a comedy musical specialty in which the voices of Marie Tomlinson and Jule Paulson are heard. The harmony singers render a variety of songs. There is a comedy sketch called "The Street Cleaner." "Paris Shine Parlor" is a combination of comedy, dancing and melody. The show closes with "The Great Divide," in which love, hate, youth, happiness are depicted. It serves to introduce Grecian dances by "Longetta." There are 17 scenes.

"Chauve Souris," In Alvin, Is Vaudeville in Russian Combining Many Novelties

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

NIKITA BALIEFF returned to the Alvin last night at the head of his novel theater, "Chauve Souris," a mixture of vaudeville, art, music, dance and comedy, presented by his company of Russian players. Balieff acted as master of ceremonies, as on the occasion of his previous visit, and, in sputtering English, he explained the acts which were to follow his announcements. These varied from the beautiful and sentimental to the grotesque and unusual, in which the players displayed a wide range of talents, stamping them as artists. Speaking no word of English they managed to make themselves understood, getting the stories of their little sketches across the footlights and into the mentalities of the audience through the message of action and music.

"The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers" in which the actors portrayed the little figures of toys as they marched to the familiar air, was the most popular thing on the bill, but there were several others which met almost equal favor. To the continued applause Balieff always said repetitions were impossible.

"Why," somebody in the audience asked.

"I don't know vhy," replied the impressario, "but et ees eem-posibeel."

And so, throughout the show, his explanations made up a good part of the entertainment, as when, refusing a repetition of a song, he said, "the female foice ees ferry frag-eel vhen eet seengs. Vhen eet spiks eet ees not so frag-eel."

One of the novelties was a scene in which a male and female figure in a hairdresser's window bearing the transformations expressed their admiration of one another, their sentiments changing when they saw each other after an attendant took their hair off to rearrange it and then put the wigs back on the wrong figures.

It is unnecessary to describe all the various parts of the show, all of which were pleasing either for comedy, music or novelty. The music was especially good, including works of noted composers. The comedy included pantomimes and burlesques, very well done. A couple of dances by Mlle. Tamara Geva were featured.

ROSS SMITH BAND BOOKED FOR SANDERS'

Ross Smith and his orchestra will play a one-night engagement in Sanders, on the Freeport highway, Saturday night. The management of Sanders is completing arrangements for the summer dance season.

WAYBURN GIRLS IN DAVIS

Ned Wayburn's miniature revue, which is the closing feature of the vaudeville bill at the Davis, is both lively and pretty—with eight gifted young dancers and some ingenious effects, like that clock with feet instead of hands. But the most amusing thing in the whole bill is the sketch written by Nelson B. Clifford, "Just Dumb," in which he is assisted by Marie Marion, who was born in Allegheny so that she could be "near mother" and who isn't anemic — "no, Protestant." Then there is Ethel Davis, whose sneezing song is as funny as her exhortation to wives to go on strike. A very entertaining one-act comedy is presented by Chris Chisholm and Viola Breen, who spend their honeymoon in a snowed-in cabin and their bliss chilled. Foster, Fagan and Cox are a trio with some good songs—especially "Mona from Bologna" and "Good-by Broadway, Hello, Montreal!" An acrobatic act made trebly difficult by being done in adagio time won applause for Inez and De Wyn. The feature picture is "Almost Human," and Vera Reynolds is the star, but for Pittsburghers it has the more interest because her leading man is Kenneth Thomson, a young Pittsburgher who has forged to the front both on stage and screen. He does exceptionally fine work in this picture, a romance in which three dogs do work that is "almost human."

SHERIDAN FEATURE IS PHOTOPLAY LIONESS

Princess Pat, movie lioness, is appearing "in person" on the Sheridan Square stage this week. Burt Nelson, owner and trainer, puts Pat through a series of stunts. "Fantasie Parisienne" is the title of a song and dace act. It features a French dancer, Dozie DeMarlier, and the O'Connor twins. Billy Moody offers song stories. Hendrix and Bladwin chatter, sing and dance. The Three Comiques open the show with a novelty act. The photoplay is entitled, "Almost Human," and features Vera Reynolds and Kenneth Thomson. A dog has a prominent part in the film story. An organlogue and short screen entertainment complete the program.

"BURNING DAYLIGHT" GRAND PHOTOPLAY

"Burning Daylight," film version of Jack London's novel, is the current photoplay in the Grand. Milton Sills is the star. He does quite well as a prospector who finds a fortune in Alaska and then goes to San Francisco and gambles in the stock market. How he loses three millions and gets it back at the point of a gun is one of the dramatic sequences. Doris Kenyon, his wife in real life, is the girl that wins him in the final fadeout. News pictures and a comedy film are on the bill.

GRANTED RAISE, FUSS STOPS ALL PAY

The 14 County Court employes granted a pay raise recently through a court order by Judge Richard A. Kennedy are not even receiving their old salary rate.

Controller Robert G. Woodside yesterday asked the county commissioners what rate to pay. He was instructed to continue to pay them nothing until a controversy between the commissioners and Judge Kennedy is ironed out.

The commissioners say the raise should have been brought up at budget time, that they are not obligated to provide it now. However they will talk it over "sometime next week" with Judge Kennedy.

PRIVATE FUNDS TO BRING AIR MEET HERE

Although legal obstacles prevented Council from appropriating $15,000 for the national elimination balloon races to be held here May 30, contributions by private individuals will make up the sum necessary to secure the contest for Pittsburgh.

The ordinance appropriating the money was sent back to committee after City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt had reported that the appropriation would be illegal. In its place, Council, by a unanimous vote, passed the official resolution asking the Mayor to invite the National Aeronautical Association to stage the contest here. An unofficial telegraphed invitation sent by Council already has been accepted, President James F. Malone announced.

When the resolution was presented by Robert J. Alderdice, Charles Anderson objected on the grounds that it might involve the city in some "lavish expenditure" such as, he said, marked the visit of the Hungarian delegation several weeks ago. Their entertainment cost the city $6,500.

Robert Garland explained that the balloon race invitation did not involve expenditures. Daniel Winters said that while he has opposed the $15,000 appropriation as illegal, he favored every effort to get the races here.

"I don't think we should get excited about spending money to advertise the city," said Malone. "We've spent it in the past and maybe it was spent a little lavishly. The last visitors we entertained did cost $6,500, but it sent away 500 advocates of Pittsburgh's greatness. Thousands of persons interested in flying will visit Pittsburgh during these balloon races. At first we thought we could put it on as a big civic affair as Akron did last year. But that plan failed and private enterprise will stage the races. This is merely an official invitation."

COUNCIL LAUDS WELFARE GIFT

The gratitude of the city to Henry Kaufmann for his recent gift of $625,000 to the Irene Kaufmann Settlement was expressed in a resolution unanimously adopted by Council yesterday.

The resolution, presented by Councilman W. Y. English, stated that the gift would provide two new buildings, housing swimming pools, baths, studies, handicraft workshops, an auditorium and other facilities needed by the community.

The amount, which increases Kaufmann's donations to the settlement to more than $1,750,000, will make the institution one of the largest and most useful in the United States, the resolution said.

SERVES YEAR IN AUTO THEFT; HELD FOR U. S.

John Hodges, Negro, was arrested yesterday on a Federal warrant when he was released from the workhouse, after serving a one-year sentence for stealing an automobile in Pittsburgh and taking it to Washington. The Federal charge involves the same machine, Hodges being under indictment in the District of Columbia for transporting the machine in interstate commerce.

Sour, Acid Stomach May Cause Ulcers

When your stomach is sour; when painful gas is causing distress, you can be sure that your stomach has turned acid—that this acid is inflaming the stomach lining, making it sore and raw.

It's a dangerous condition. A double-corrective is absolutely necessary to guard against ulcers, gastritis and chronic acidity.

That's why thousands have given up old-time preparations which merely deaden the pain. They've turned to pure, harmless Bi-nesia, which not only neutralizes acid instantly, thus quickly stopping the pain—but it is also the one remedy which soothes, heals and protects the delicate stomach lining. Bi-nesia tablets or powder cost but 50 cents of any druggist and quick, safe, relief and unconditional satisfaction is guaranteed or your money back.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

I. S. Harris thought it wasn't fair! There were others whom he felt were entitled to credit. He said to himself: "Any one and everyone is entitled to credit. The American people are honest and they'll pay their bills!" That was his idea in 1907—it is his idea today!

ADDITIONAL STAGE AND SCREEN NEWS

NEW THEATER DEDICATED

The new Harris South Hills Theater, Dormont, dedicated last night, stands on ground which 15 years ago was a cornfield. One of the most attractive play houses in Western Pennsylvania and in the midst of a community of more than 20,000 inhabitants, the opening ceremony marked an epoch in the development of Pittsburgh suburbs as well as the success and expansion of the Harris theatrical enterprises. Three thousand persons thronged the new amusement temple and expressed their enthusiasm for its beauty and appointments as well as for the screen and stage bill.

The ceremony was unique. When the curtain was lifted the stage was filled with officers of the Harris theatrical enterprises and officials of the borough of Dormont and the township of Mt. Lebanon. C. C. Polling, president of the local Chamber of Commerce, introduced Dennis A. Harris, president of the Harris interests, who acted as master of ceremonies. He complimented the residents of the community, declaring that they deserved the finest theater that his company could build and predicted that it would be supported on the way to success.

William S. Haddock, burgess of Dormont, and Charles Chamberlain, president of Dormont Council, accepted the theater on behalf of the people of the big South Hills borough. C. W. Scheck, commissioner of Mt. Lebanon township, spoke in behalf of his community. It was shown how the South Hills suburbs are growing and predictions were freely made that within a few years other theaters would be necessary to accomodate the growing population. A pleasing bill was offered. The picture was "The Legion of the Condemned," starring Gary Cooper, and there were several vaudeville numbers.

There will be three changes of bill weekly. The theater is in the business center of the South Hills district with an attractive entrance in West Liberty avenue. The auditorium is sufficient distance from the main thoroughfare to escape the noise and is furnished with convenient exits. Architecturally it is one of the best houses in the Harris neighborhood chain and in providing for the comfort of its patrons it is declared to be unsurpassed in Pittsburgh.

HARRIS OFFERS ELEPHANTS

The Jimmy Rooney Trio open the vaudevile show in the Harris this week. The players do some fast, clever stepping. But the little song jiggle they use to introduce their dancing isn't very good and isn't very necessary. Next comes W. D. Pollard who juggles merry words as well as biliard cues cannon balls and such. A skit that concerns a couple of gunmen who steal $200 dollars and save a widow from losing her home, is offered by Joseph Byron Totten & Co. It proves quite interesting and wins applause. Adele Nelson and her group of baby elephants, billed as the show's feature, present an amusing animal act. The Great Lester and his ventriloquial dummy get laughs. The photoplay is a Tom Mix feature, "Horseman of th Plains." Short screen entertainment and an organlogue are on the bill.

"WINGS," IN THE NIXON 4TH WEEK, STILL THRILLS

Audiences continue to be thrilled by "Wings," in the Nixon, where this photoplay of the part aviators played in the World War began the fourth week of its engagement in that theater yesterday. It is a picture which merits its popularity. Clara Bow, Charles Rogers and Richard Arlen play the leading roles well.

HOLD PAINT SPRAYING HEARING HERE MAY 23

Public hearings on regulations for paint-spray coating, in which a number of experts employed by the state have been conducting a survey, will be held May 15, in Philadelphia, May 16, in Harrisburg, and May 23, in Pittsburgh.

WHITE HEADS JUNIOR PROM AT DUQUESNE

John J. White, Duquesne University, has been elected chairman of arrangements for the annual university junior prom to be held in the Schenley Hotel Friday. Ralph Hayes is secretary, and Margaret Kaufman is treasurer.

PITT PLAYERS IN "TOMMY"

In the Pitt this week there is a boy, Tommy, who loves a girl, Marie. But the road of romance for them is a rather bumpy one. What—with interfering parents continually shouting Tommy's virtues; an uncle who applies politics to love; and a young automobile salesman of the personality-plus type, who takes it for granted that the girl will marry him.

It is the George Sharp Players who create these characters and the resulting situations in their newest offering, a three-act comedy titled "Tommy." And right here we might say that Mr. Sharp, in including this play on his repertoire, has made a happy selection. You may recall that as a road production it won favor upon its presentation in the Nixon in February. The Pitt audience enjoyed it much.

Mr. Sharp's players, for the most part, are quite satisfactory in their various portrayals. Anne Forrest makes Marie a human and likeable character. John Thorn is well cast as David Tuttle, the uncle, who, besides collecting portraits of Lincoln and running his town politically, finds time to help his niece along with her love affair. In the role of the girl's mother, who thinks Tommy's such a nice boy and who enjoys the candy he brings, is Louise Gerard Huntington. The father, who's in the livery stable business and likes the cigars Tommy brings, is essayed by Gus Forbes. Ralph Morgan is in the title role and Gordon Anderson is seen as the high-powered salesman. Mabel Kronan and Matthew Smith, Jr., in minor roles, make brief appearances.

POLA NEGRI GORGEOUS IN STANLEY PICTURE

One of the characters in "Three Sinners," photoplay in the Stanley, enthusiastically exclaims that the woman played by Pola Negri, starred in the piece, is "a gorgeous creature." She is, and that's a fact. She is superb in raiment, poise and beauty, a treat for the eyes, with a marvelous coiffure of white hair. An appealing picture in herself. The photoplay has gripping moments, too, with Miss Negri in the role of a countess who is supposed to have been killed in a railway accident. Instead she is with a friend of her husband and to prevent scandal and disgrace for his name she is forced to remain recorded as dead. It is later as a hostess in a big gambling place that she appears in all her gorgeousness. It is there she attracts the notice of her husband, among other men, including an American, and it is from these incidents that a dramatic story develops. Warner Baxter, James Harris, Anders Randolph, Tullio Carminati and Olga Baclanovea give the star strong support. The stage presentation, "In Bermuda," includes the Eight Revelers, smartly-stepping boys, Sully & Coogan, Walers & Ellis, Williams & Douglas, Madeline Killileen and the Leibling Singers. It is a lively mixture of songs and steps, elaborately staged. Tunes of the North and South make up "Rhapsody in Blue and Gray," the orchestral overture, directed by Phil Spitalny. There also are interesting short screen features.

"THE CROWD," IN PENN, JUST MISSES GREATNESS

"The Crowd," photoplay feature in the Penn, has an interesting story, good acting, wonderful direction and photography, effects that are real art. It makes a decided grasp for the elusive quality that would stamp it as a great picture—and just misses. It is the story of Johnny Sims, whose father was certain would become great, and the wonderful girl who becomes his wife and mother of his children. Johnny doesn't become great. His mediocrity does not permit him to rise above "the crowd," which, in various ways throughout the picture is effectively suggested as a mighty overwhelming force. Johnny, in fact, becomes a failure, but the struggle of the little family, in which most of the courage is seated in the wife, is impressive and gripping. Only in the finale does the film fall off. Eleanor Boardman and James Murray, the latter a recent screen recruit, do excellent work in the leading roles, the capable support including Bert Roach, Lucy Beaumont, Del Henderson and others. On the stage a group of players in comedy, songs, dances and music are presented under the title of "Knick Knacks." They include two skilled dancers in Muriel and Mildred Lee, Llora Hoffman, songstress with a pleasing voice; a Chinese and blackface comedy skit; Winfred and Mills, dancers; a dancing chorus of 12 girls and other features. A feature of the act is the appearance of Teddy Joyce, comedian and dancer, as director of the stage orchestra and master of ceremonies. He makes good.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Sawdust Arena Prompts Skin and Cancer Foundation in Arranging for Circus June 15

CLOWNS and performing bears and tight-rope walkers may not have much appeal to the general public just now—it's just a bit chilly really to enjoy sitting for several hours under the "big top"—but the time will soon be here when the song of the circus will be heard in the land. And just because they know that there is something irresistible about it, the young women of the dispensary board of the Skin and Cancer Foundation have selected the circus idea around which to plan their annual benefit.

The benefit will not be held until the middle of June—the fifteenth, to be exact—and perhaps we may dare to hope that it will be comfortably warm outdoors by that time, at least. The committee, which is headed by Mrs. Thomas M. Jones III, is calling the affair a circus dinner dance, and it will be held, as has been the custom for the past couple of years, at The Willows. Mrs. Jones' aides met at her home in Beechwood boulevard yesterday afternoon and talked over their plans, and they do sound interesting. I understand that various sorts of games will be the principal feature of the party.

The dispensary board has always tried to make its affairs just a little out of the ordinary. You remember, don't you, the artists' ball which was one of the big social events of last May and was given under the dispensary board's auspices?

Another benefit, this one scheduled for this week, is the bridge party which alumnae of the Ellis School are planning for the Marine Hospital. It is set for Saturday in the Rittenhouse, with Mrs. Walter Irvin as chairman. Eight graduates of the school are helping Mrs. Irvin in her plans for the affair, including Mrs. Evan Jones, Martha Arnold, Elizabeth Daugherty, Margaret Munroe, Martha Ganier, Julia Ellis, Mrs. J. S. Welling and Marguerite Payne.

The Joe T. Taylors, of Lytton avenue, are sending out invitations today, I understand, for the wedding of their daughter, Betty, and Jay Fishell Pigman, of New Haven, Conn., formerly of Pittsburgh, son of Mrs. Margaret A. Pigman, of Mt. Pleasant. The ceremony is scheduled for May 22 at 7:30 o'clock at the house, and the Rev. Dr. Alonzo Turkle, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, is to be the officiant.

Betty is having her two sisters, Mrs. Jay H. Overpeck and Mrs. Donald C. Franklin, for her matrons of honor, and the maid of honor will be Helen L. Hassinger, of Reading. Her small niece, Janice Boyer Overpeck, daughter of the matron of honor, is going to be the flower girl. Morris N. Pigman, of Mt. Pleasant, will be his brother's best man, and included in the list of ushers are Jay H. Overpeck, Donald C. Franklin, Dr. James A. Cowan and H. O. Huttle, of Pittsburgh, and Thomas L. Cort, of Mt. Pleasant.

PAINTED "FAIR" POSTERS

Miss Grace Clark was one of the Sewickley girls who painted the invitations and posters for the "county fair" to be held Friday in the Epworth Club by the Sewickley Child Health Association.

Those spring house parties at Princeton are attracting quite a few of our society girls this year, as usual, and I hear that several of them are going to leave Thursday morning and drive there. In the group will be Betty Scott, Josephine Nicola, Ellen McClay and Virginia Goldsbury, and after the week-end parties they will stop in New York for a short time. Another girl who will be a guest at the house parties is Elinor Munroe. Elinor has been visiting her sister, Mrs. John Larkin O'Brien, at Albany, for the past month, and she will go down to Princeton from there.

The Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Canice's Church, Knoxville, will hold its annual spring dance and card party tomorrow night in the South Hills Country Club with Miss Mary Louise Coyne as general chairman. Bridge, euchre "500" and Old Maid will be played.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin D. Lewis, of Essex avenue, Montclaire, N. J., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Estella Gearing Lewis, to Archie K. Sharp, of Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. George McCracken, of Locust place, Sewickley, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jean Jones McCracken, to Elmer B. Milligan, son of Mrs. E. B. Milligan, of Wilkinsburg. The wedding will take place in June.

Miss Aurelia R. Martin is general chairman for the card party to be given May 8 and 9 by the Sodality of SS. Peter and Paul's Church, in the school auditorium in Flavel street.

Young people of the Overbrook Presbyterian Church will present the farce, "The Whole Town's Talking," in the Carrick High School, Thursday and Friday nights.

Court Duquesne No. 659, Catholic Daughters of America, will hold a dance and card party tomorrow night in the Knights of Columbus clubhouse, Fifth and Bellefield avenues. Mrs. E. Nuttall is in charge.

Paul A. Nee is charman of the patron committee for the Duquesne University junior prom to be held Friday night in the Hotel Schenley.

CONGRESS CLUB'S REPORT SHOWS PROSPEROUS YEAR

The Congress of Club brought to a close yesterday one of the most successful years it has ever known. The reports of chairmen of departments and committees were given, all showing unusual activity, but that of the financial secretary, Mrs. Milton C. Reno, and of Miss Alice Hall, chairman of the budget committee, were of especial interest. Miss Hall showed that $52,600 had been accounted as the possible intake, an amount that had actually been exceeded by $15,766.80. A washing machine, a hot-water heater, new silver, new linens and glassware, and other permanent equipment had been installed and $5,000 paid on the mortgage. The dining room alone showed an increase of $4,938.73 over last year and it had brought in a revenue of $42,561.25. Persons served in the dining room numbered 48,096. Mrs. Reno said in one day last month $1,500 had been taken into the exchequer from various sources.

The nominating committee's ticket was elected in its entirety, although there were several nominations for directors from the floor. The ticket follows: First vice president, Mrs. D. Edwin Miller; third vice president, Mrs. F. H. Burdick; recording secretary, Mrs. George J. Campbell; directors, Mrs. W. B. Carson, Mrs. S. J. Corbett, Mrs. William M. Justice, Mrs. J. H. Lesley, Mrs. Paul Hamilton and Mrs. J. C. Schreiner. Mrs. R. W. Stadden, of Stroudsburg, chairman of forestry in the State Federation, spoke before the close of the meeting.

A program of interest has been arranged for the monthly leaders' meeting of the Allegheny County League of Women Voters to be held on Thursday at 10:30 o'clock in the Congress of Clubs. Anthony P. Huckestein, supervising inspector, Department of Labor and Industry, will speak on the child labor law and the factory inspector. This will close a series of talks that have been given the past few months on the children-in-industry program. Reports of the tour of polling places which were made on the day of the primaries will be given by members of the league. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock, after which A. M. Imbrie, chairman of the elections committee of the Bar Association, will speak on "Honest Elections and Happenings of the Recent Elections."

Mrs. William McClay Hall is the new president of the Twentieth Century Club, having been elected at the annual meeting held yesterday in the clubhouse. Five new directors also were elected. They are Mrs. Elizabeth Burt Mellor, Mrs. H. Allen Machesney, Mrs. Carroll Miller, Mrs. Jacob S. Payton and Miss Eleanor T. Grier. Reports of all committees were heard and plans for a proposed new clubhouse were shown on a screen.

A talk on her personal experiences in Italy and on her impressions of Italian scenes was an unexpected feature at yesterday's meeting of the Pittsburgh Literary and Musical Club. In addition, there were papers by Mrs. W. S. Trosh and Mrs. Howard Q. Turner on "A May Day in Italy" and "Child Life." Miss Margaret Fingal, vocalist, and Mrs. J. Lawrence Hunter, pianist, furnished the music.

The last meeting of the year for the Women's Club of Carnegie Institute of Technology will be held tomorrow in the Faculty Club rooms. A luncheon for members and their guests at 1 o'clock will be followed by a business meeting and a program of entertainment, to be presented by the Newcomers group, will come later.

The annual meeting and election of officers and directors of the Rodef Shalom Sisterhood will take place Thursday in the temple assembly room.

For its monthly meeting on May 17, the Woman's Club of Aspinwall will have a miscellaneous program, with all departments participating. A bake sale to be held the same afternoon will be in charge of Mrs. R. B. Bowden and Mrs. F. F. Schade.

The Outlook Alliance will have a Mothers' Day meeting in the Congress of Clubs on Thursday afternoon. The speaker will be the Rev. Dr. Charles A. McCrea, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Oakmont, and his subject "Ideal Womanhood."

Mrs. Harry C. McDonald, director of the Girl Scouts of Allegheny County, will give a short talk on "Scouting for the Girl of Today."

Mrs. Mary Rhodes McBride will sing and Mrs. D. K. Ballard will read. Home-made cakes baked by the mothers' committee will be on sale, the proceeds to be sent to the Children's Home at Edgewood. White gifts also will be received for the home.

How to Reduce High Blood Pressure

There is only one way to reduce high blood pressure and that is by correcting the condition which has caused it. You must rid your system of the deadly body poisons that are being absorbed into the blood stream, affecting every vital organ and threatening apoplexy.

You can do it easily and quickly with Lithuric Salts, a pleasant sparkling drink composed of natural mineral salts and the fruit acids of lemons and grapes. Body poisons are removed through flushing of the intestines; the liver is stimulated and the kidneys assisted to do their body purifying work. If you get a package of Lithuric Salts at any May Drug Co. Store or any other good druggist today and start taking it tomorrow morning, you'll soon be amazed at the remarkable improvement in your condition.

"I Will Pay $500 If You Lose 25 lbs."

said my husband to me one day

This is the story a lady told the writer. She accepted the offer, and started that day on Marmola. The cost of losing 25 pounds was $5. The effort was almost nothing. Her profit was $495.

But think what she gained in new beauty, new vitality, new charm. She looked ten years younger, and money can't measure that.

Men and women, for 20 years, have been using Marmola prescription tablets—millions of boxes of them. The results are seen in every circle. Almost everyone has friends who can tell them. Excess fat is far less common than it was.

Marmola aims to correct a common cause of obesity in a scientific way. Its chief factor is now employed by physicians, the world over in treating excess fat. The complete formula appears in every box. Also the reasons for results. This is done to ward off any fear of harm.

Abnormal exercise or diet is neither required nor advised, but moderation helps. Simply take four tablets daily until normal gland conditions bring the weight down. Full details in every box.

With fat reduction comes other benefits which will make you doubly glad.

Learn what Marmola means to you. Every tablet is worth its weight in gold if it does what it does for so many. And all results come from correcting a condition that's abnormal. A help which has proved itself for 20 years, with such results, such a growing demand, deserves a test.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. Any druggist who is out will order from his jobber.

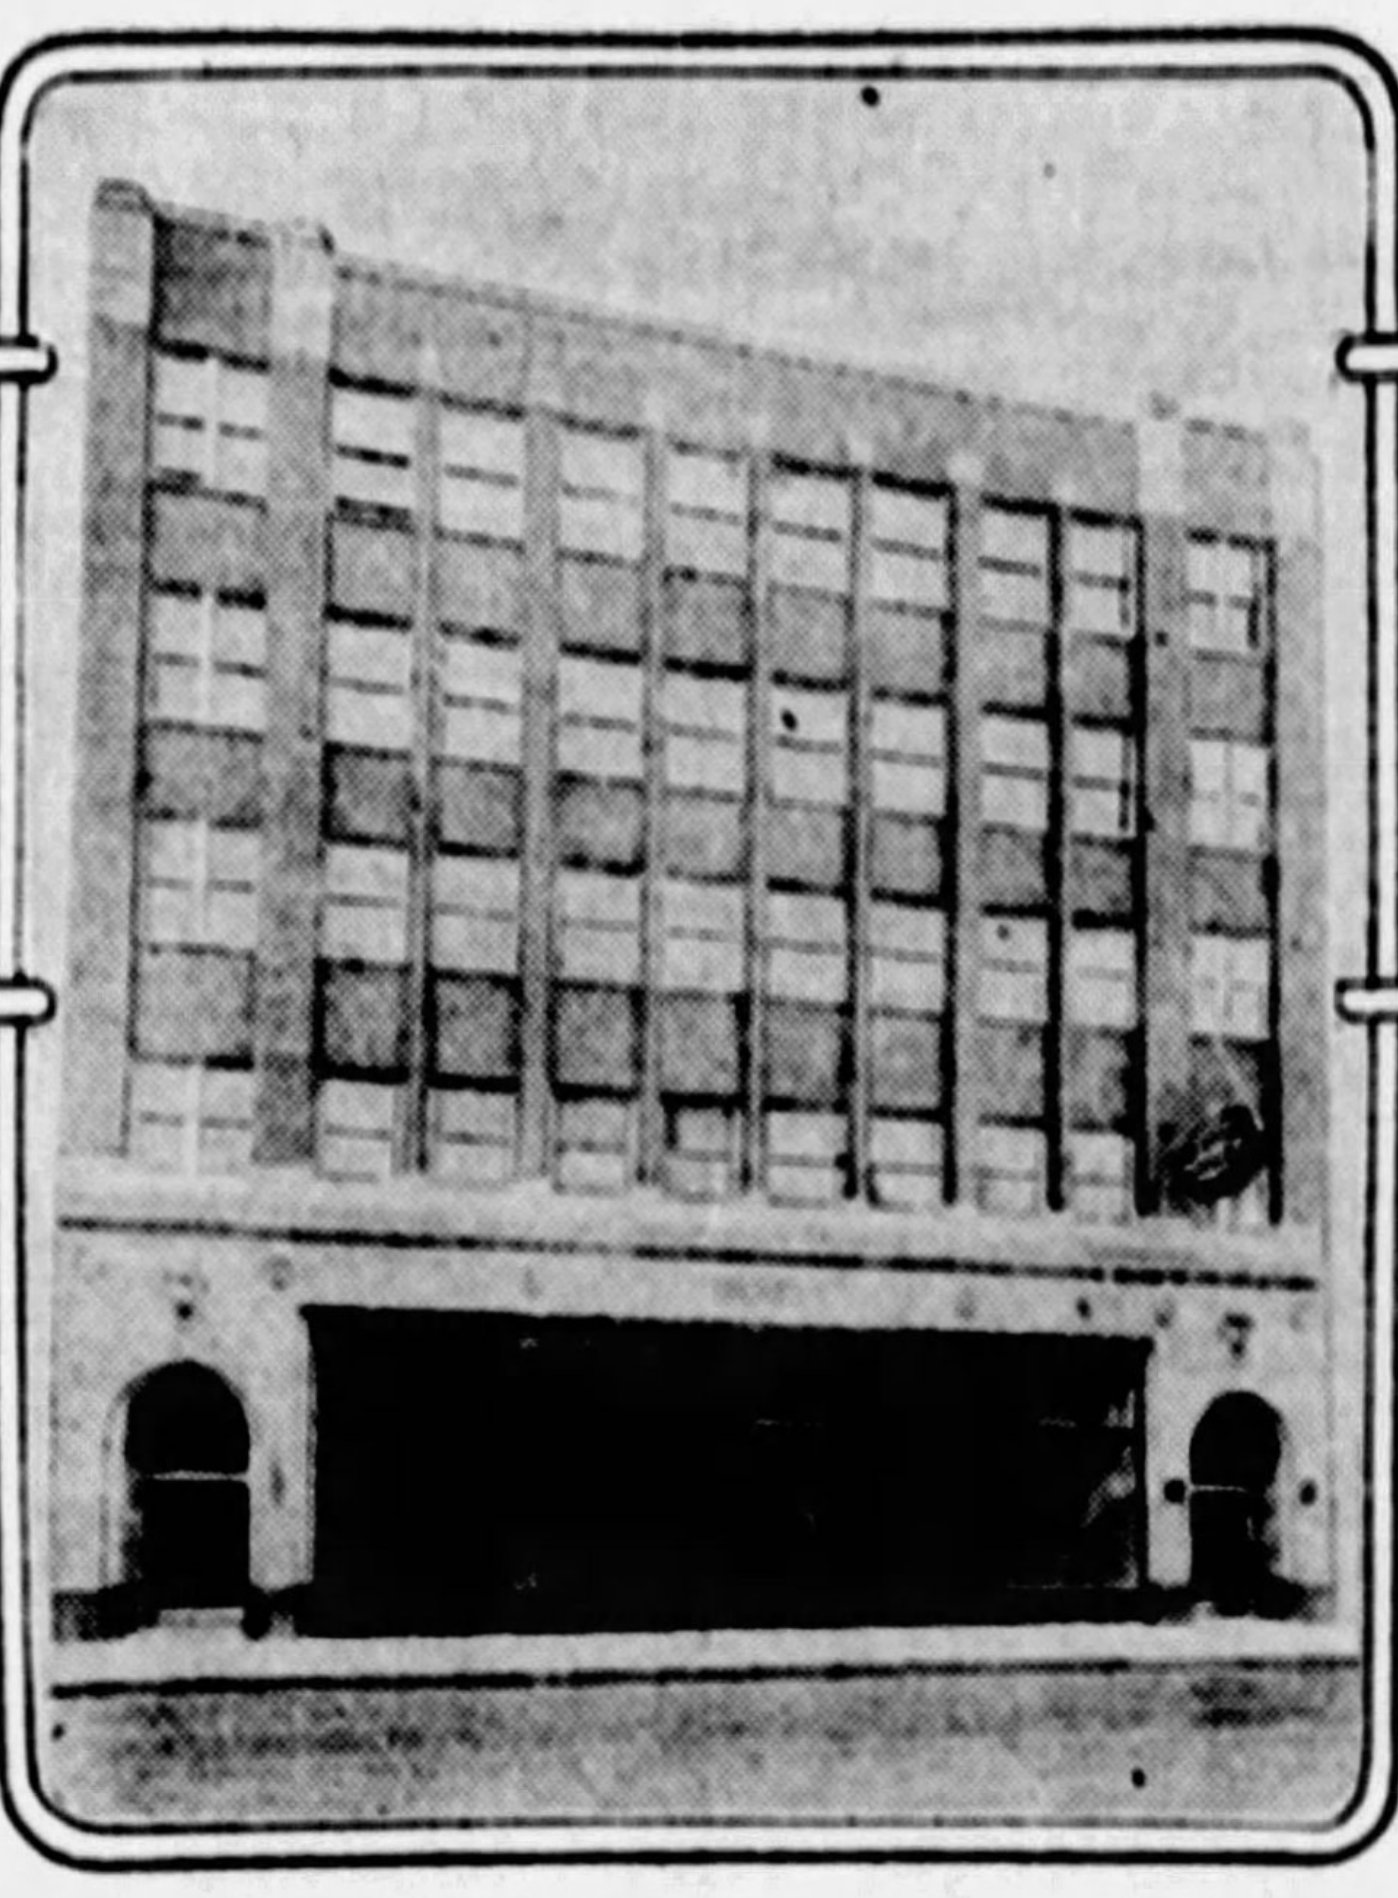
FIFTH AVE AND LIBERTY

ATWOOD AND FORBES



New Warehouse and Office Building
317-321 Penn Avenue

HOMEWOOD AND KELLY

SMITHFIELD AND SIXTH AVE

A MAY SERVICE that will benefit the people of Greater Pittsburgh. All May's sales, advertised in the daily newspapers, in future, will apply to all May's Stores.

MAY'S offices, stockrooms and laboratories, now located in the new warehouse pictured here, provide every facility for BETTER SERVICE and FUTURE GROWTH.

This Announcement Is of Utmost Importance to You!

MAY'S, for many years, have served the people of Pittsburgh, but because of the tremendous volume of business on our advertised sales days, the sales were confined to May's Main Store, in the May Building, where our stock-rooms were formerly located. With the continued growth of the May organization, which is attributed to the generous response we have had from the public during our business career, we were compelled to provide larger quarters. The new WAREHOUSE AND OFFICE BUILDING, at 317-321 Penn Avenue, with its modern equipment and approximately 60,000 square feet of floor space, enables us to handle the sales volume in ALL MAY'S STORES. And NOW, May's ANNOUNCE to the public, who has made our organization possible, that all MAY'S ADVERTISED SALES, in future, will apply to ALL MAY'S STORES.

Fresh Goods—Always—At May's

May's enormous volume of business insures FRESH GOODS AT ALL TIMES. For example, we quote the following figures: There were approximately a half-million Tooth Preparations sold at May's Stores during 1927. There are 50,000 bottles of Citrate of Magnesia sold each month at May's Stores. (This product is made FRESH DAILY in May's own laboratory.)

Such tremendous turnovers assure you of FRESH GOODS AT ALL TIMES. May's are always on the alert to make special purchases; and, from time to time, obtain merchandise in such large quantities that demand special price concessions, which in turn, is passed along to our customers at prices decidedly lower than our everyday low prices. YOU share in the savings on May's purchases.

May's—Still Growing—

There are now 16 May Stores, located conveniently "All Over Greater Pittsburgh." Heretofore YOU have had the privilege of stepping into the May Store nearest you and enjoying MAY'S everyday savings. In addition, you can now enjoy the SAVINGS offered in May's Advertised special sales. The building of the new warehouse will greatly aid in FUTURE GROWTH; which is just a beginning, as May's future expansion plans call for a MAY DRUG STORE in every thriving community or nearby town. THINK OF MAY FIRST, and all the time, for best quality, FRESH drug store needs.

Because of the many requests to advertise items at special prices on which the sale does not justify the carrying of sufficient stock for all stores, our "Customers' Request" column will be discontinued, effective from this date.

VOTE MACHINE SECTION WINS SCOUT PRIZE

Voting machines, used in the balloting in the Boy Scouts Merit Badge Exposition at Duquesne Gardens to decide the most popular exhibit, proved so popular that the Civics booth, displaying the machines, won first place.

The exhibit was in charge of Troop No. 76, of the Third Presbyterian Church, J. L. Goehring, Scoutmaster. All visitors at the Exposition were asked to cast their ballots for their favorite booth, and the majority of the people indorsed honest elections, voting machines, and civic studies for the Scouts. Fifteen hundred persons voted.

Aviation stood second in the contest in which there were 76 candidates. This exhibit was sponsored by Troop No. 35, of the Sixth Presbyterian Church, W. A. McWilliam, Scoutmaster.

The troop from the Brookline Methodist Episcopal Church, C. E. Gould, Scoutmaster, won third place with the display of leather work. The troop from St. Paul's Catholic Cathedral, William V. Munhall, Scoutmaster, demonstrated dairying for Scouts and won fourth place. The results were announced at Allegheny County Boy Scout headquarters today.

2 CARNEGIE STEEL CO. EMPLOYES ADVANCED

John E. Woods, assistant general manager of sales of the Carnegie Steel Company, is retiring, effective today, and is succeeded by Joseph C. Shields, his assistant. Announcement of this change along with the promotion of James E. Lose, superintendent of Carrie furnaces to assistant general superintendent was made yesterday.

BRIBE CHARGE FILED AGAINST 2 SLEUTHS

Bribery and extortion are charged in informations made against County Detectives J. Edward Weber, of Brackenridge, and John W. Carmichael, of Sharpsburg, today by Chief County Detective George W. Murren. The charges filed before Alderman George J. Anderson allege that they intimidated, levied blackmail and extorted money and other valuables from Tony Bresszia, of East Deer township, in whose home they found a still. They were suspended by District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner yesterday.

The detectives collected $200 from Bresszia, it is alleged. The place later was raided by prohibition agents and Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington learned of the raid by county detectives. He reported the matter and the charges followed.

Blindfolded ... in scientific test of leading Cigarettes, Mrs. Emily Post selects OLD GOLD

"Personally, I have never acquired a taste for tobacco. For most cigarettes seem to burn my tongue and sting my throat. The only time I ever smoke, therefore, is in courtesy to someone coming to my house, who would lay her accustomed cigarette aside unless I at least lit one, too.

"It seemed absurd, at first, that I should be chosen to attempt this blindfold test . . . except that never having become a smoker, my taste is extremely sensitive to the burning harshness of the average cigarette.

"But I was very much surprised to find that I had chosen OLD GOLD as being perceptibly smooth, stingless and pleasant to taste. In fact, I now quite easily understand why the OLD GOLD compartment in my general cigarette box must be so constantly refilled."

Elephant Drive by Ivory Hunters, Horn Bagging One

Tuskers Lured Into Trap But Give Battle to the Gunmen And Spearmen

What Has Gone Before.

Trader Horn, writing at 73, recounts his adventures among the cannibals of Africa over half a century ago and tells how he met Nina T——, the white goddess to the Isorga, and discovered that she came of an aristocratic English family. He also discovers a beautiful ruby in the josh house during a ceremony in which he is made a member of a native secret society, the first and only white man to be so honored. He gives many exciting incidents in connection with trading for ivory and rubber and describes how a witch doctor, who claimed that he could not be shot, ordered his own execution.

Pachyderms' Peculiarities

By ALFRED ALOYSIUS HORN

Edited by ETHELREDA LEWIS

CHAPTER XVII.

THE meeting dispersed, still laughing and joking at the dead witch doctor's expense. The Mpangwe village was crowded with ivory hunters, as there was an elephant drive about to take place. The animals were about 25 miles away and were being lured into an inclosure several miles in circumference.

ALFRED A. HORN

Once in the enclosure the trapped animals have no chance of escape, as the hunters in force close round the place and form a ring which is seldom broken. About 150 animals composed this herd, which were looking for fresh pastures, and those migrations took place yearly, and always in the dry season.

Hay they not been interfered with this bunch were heading for the southern shores of Eliwa Mpolo. But the Mponagways, always on the qui vive, generally get them before they arrive at the promised land. In these migrations the hunters say the young elephants are led by the old bulls, who have made the trip before, and like migrating birds, when they are lonesome they go to the interior and fetch back fresh inhabitants for the districts they live in. No one but the drivers ever go near the enclosure.

The animals are coaxed into the enclosure by food being placed at intervals on the way to the trap. Their food consists of wild (ilotos) small red bananas, odika nuts, palm nuts, banana leaves and a variety of choice foods loved by the elephants.

The Elephant Trap

These foods are also distributed in the enclosure and help to keep the animals quiet; without this they would easily break down the enclosure, which is very weak in places and makes one wonder why they do not break through.

The food must have a very quieting effect on them. I left the village the next morning with orders that as soon as the elephants were trapped I should be warned as I wanted to see the animals before the killing.

Herr Shiffe was more than glad to see me and we spent most of our time that day and part of the night in making plans for future trade, for our mutual benefit. As the trade in ivory, rubber, etc., was increasing by leaps and bounds it was more than ever apparent to anyone who had an eye to the future that keen competition up country was absolutely ruinous for both firms.

United we could have done better but being two opposites the best we could do was to have a plain understanding as to our modus operandi, in the outdoor trade. It was I that first broached the subject and Herr Shiffe concurred or gave his reason why not.

Live Elephant Wanted

Mutual help in distress was one of the main subjects and also no encroachment on each other's territory. To this we both agreed and whilst I and Herr Shiff were in the interior the agreement was never broken and furthermore we fought for each other up the river and were twice as powerful as we would have been working at loggerheads.

As time went on it became a glaring fact that our private agreement had saved many lives and made trade possible in places where otherwise we should never have been able to hold our own singly.

I turned in and slept soundly that night and was awakened early next morning and told by Matam the hunter that the elephants were in the enclosure. I made all haste and after breakfast took an early departure to see the fun. Herr Shiffe gave Matam an order for a young elephant to be delivered at his trading post and this was afterwards delivered.

Young African elephants are difficult to sell as they never become properly tamed but Herr Shiffe wanted one for a friend in Germany. On arriving at the trap or enclosure we found the hunters around the enclosure.

Small fires were burning at intervals in a huge circle from which rose a dense smoke, whilst some of the native spearmen walked to and fro near the circle. The elephants were leisurely walking around the trap whilst many of them were eating the food that was placed there for them.

After a short while two large tuskers came well in short range. Matam's gun rang out and down fell one elephant whilst I got the other, whilst a large grown cow charged a small piece of our fort which had been enclosed and with such force that she nearly succeeded in forcing an entrance, but she was soon dispatched.

It was some time before the big ones came our way whilst firing had now opened in several places. We killed quite a great number in this manner, but all the larger game seemed to be giving the most trouble about the entrance to the enclosure.

Great caution is necessary, as the animals were now on the alert and would charge anything moving inside the trap. We had the good fortune to see one large elephant break through the enclosure near the entrance as he had charged a retiring hunter.

The Mpangues followed him up, running and dodging like hounds. They are splendid hunters and are absolutetly fearless. The big animal was soon made to look like a porcupine as the barbed spears thrown with unerring aim found an easy billet in his huge body.

He made for the river, but was met by the natives, who were camped on the edge of the forest he had entered. These men seldom lose a wounded elephant.

GERMAN TRIES PLANE AS MATES SLEEP

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Service

NEW YORK, May 1.—Capt. Hermann Koehl, pilot of the trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen, slipped out of bed at an unearthly hour this morning, dashed out to the Curtiss Flying Field and enjoyed himself immensely by making four short flights in the Junkers monoplane F-13, sister ship of the Bremen.

The trip was entirely unexpected, and not on the program. The genial captain's companions, Baron Gunther Von Huenefeld and Maj. James Fitzmaurice, were sleeping soundly at the time, recuperating from the effects of their strenuous day yesterday when 2,000,000 New Yorkers turned out to acclaim them. None of the fliers got to bed until after midnight.

45 MINUTES IN AIR

Capt. Koehl spent a total of 46 minutes in the air. He said he wanted to get the "feel" of the F-13, which he had never flown before, and also wanted to get at the controls of a plane again. The captain, with the true instinct of a born flier, did exactly what Col. Charles A. Lindbergh did after New York acclaimed him—got away by himself in the air.

It was the first time Koehl had taken off and landed on an American flying field while handling the controls. The captain went to the field by automobile, accompanied by A. A. Schroeder, engineer for the Junkers Company. It was believed that the F-13 may be the plane that will be used by Koehl, Von Huenefeld and Fitzmaurice on their triumphal tour of the United States, which starts a week from today.

Their present schedule calls for their appearance in Washington tomorrow to receive congratulations of President Coolidge. They will return to New York by train Thursday morning.

BARON'S TIP REFUSED

Smiling like a happy boy, Capt. Koehl returned to the fliers' suite at the Ritz-Carlton from the flying field at 10:05 a. m., and rejoined the Baron and Fitzmaurice. "Fitz," as New York has learned to call the slim Irishman, was delighted by the news carried in an International News Service dispatch from Dublin that his request for a month's leave of absence has been granted.

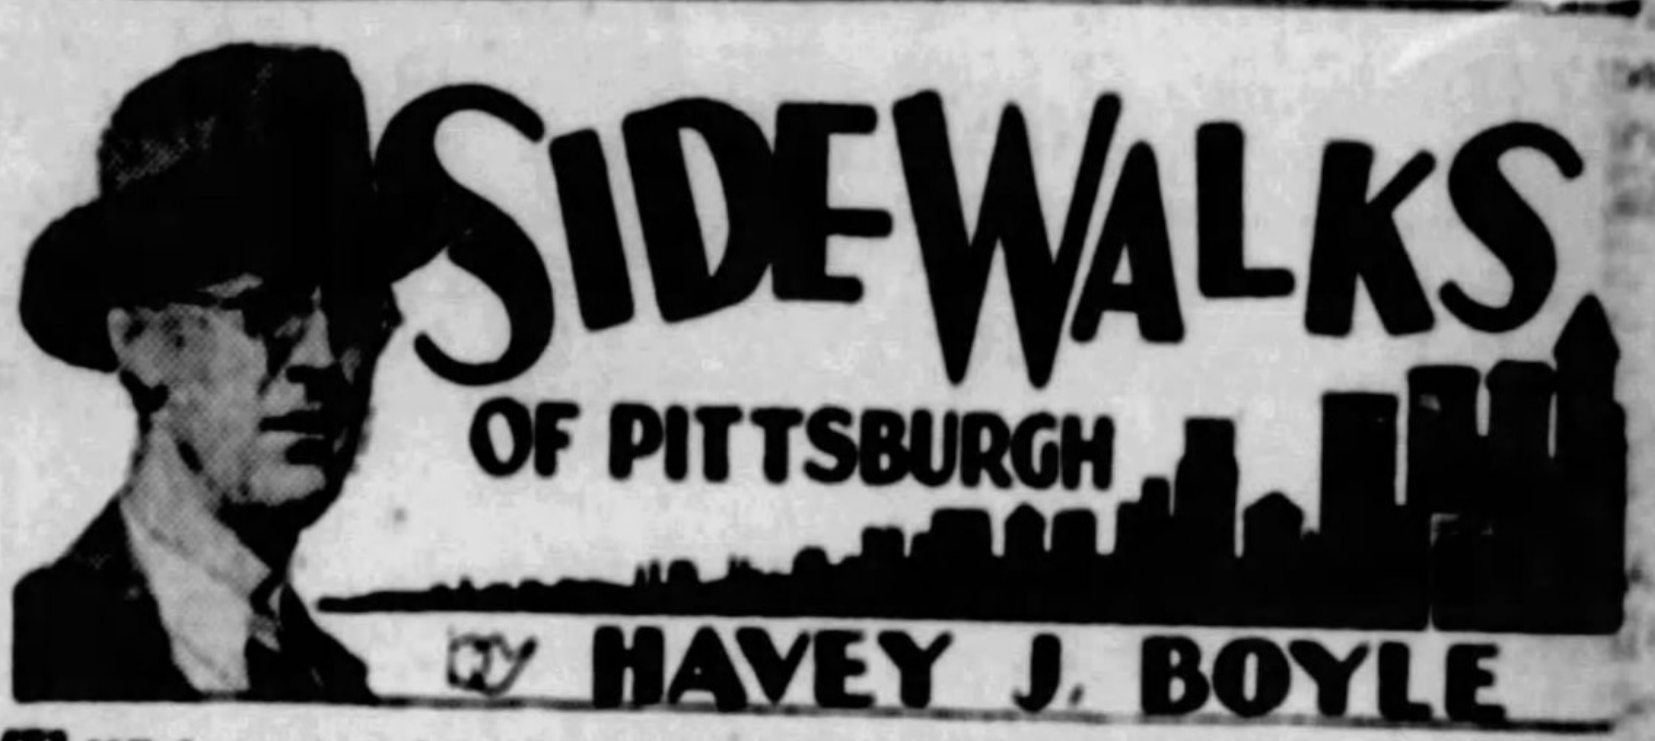
The Baron was still under the spell of New York's tumultuous reception while he was getting shaved this morning. He told Charles H. Ritz, a barber at the hotel, that "they can do things like it only in America." The Baron, who has the reputation of being a liberal tipper, sought to give the barber a tip, but the latter held up a politely firm hand in refusal.

It was the Baron's thirty-sixth birthday, and by radio from Berlin he received congratulations from his mother, the Baroness von Huenefeld. A white birthday cake a foot and a half across and marked with a single big candle was brought into the fliers' suite.

The fliers were carefully guarded against any radical demonstrations in connection with May Day. The bomb squad assigned four picked men to join the police guard protecting the German-Irish trio.

GREAT FUTURE FOR JOURNALISM SEEN

"Journalism at this precise time is in a period of transition," declared Karl A. Bickel, president of the United Press Association, in an address today before the Service clubs of Pittsburgh at Fort Pitt Hotel. "New factors of great potency are at work upon the news consumers of America." He declared a period of a new and enormously more productive and powerful journalism is setting in.



SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

THE late marathon was a commercial proposition conceived here by a capable promoter who, like a great many other promoters, was concerned quite naturally more about the gate receipts than contributing to the uplift. He had a naive and refreshing frankness which sometimes escapes the more smug promoters of ventures only slightly more moral, when closely examined.

POSSIBLY, the promoter might have contrived a plausible answer to those gestures of scorn—a tilted nose held by the fingers—registered by the disapproving ones. He might have said among other things that the marathon was of, by and for the common people, who are so often neglected.

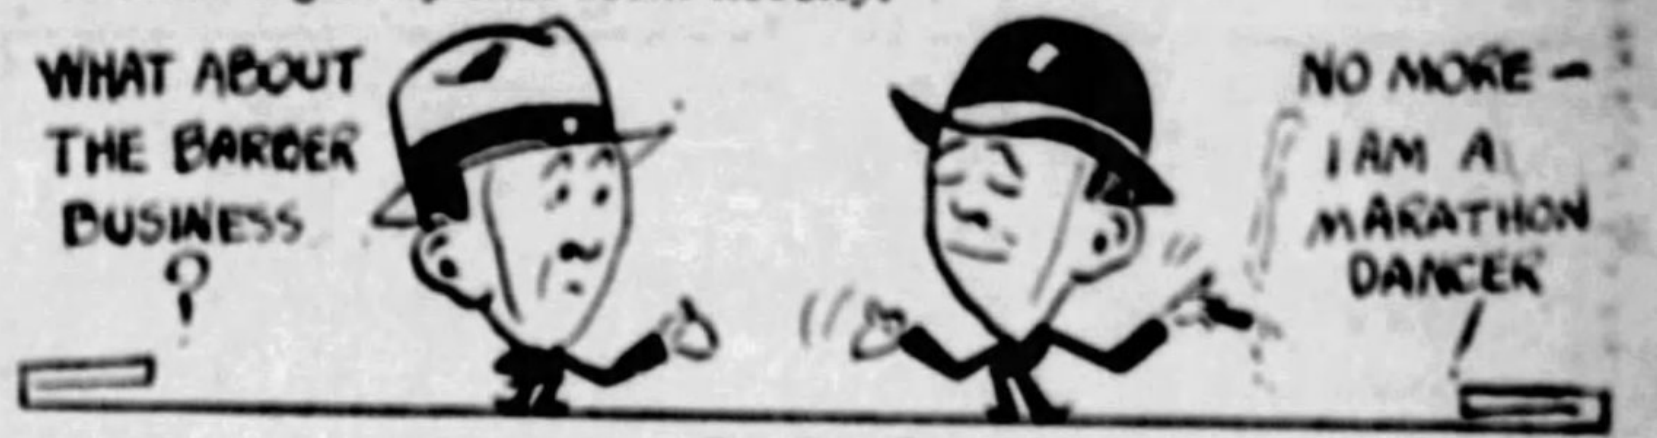
HE MIGHT truthfully say that he had created purple and ermine in place of dull and monotonous gray, for it is true that from the ranks—and honorable ranks—of ribbon counter girls, plasterers, barbers, waitresses, he had produced personages for a day. When nobodies are elevated to celebrities, no matter how local the fame or fleeting the period, there must be in the land of compensation a cheer or so from a gallery that seeks novelty.



WHAT ABOUT THE BARBER BUSINESS ?
NO MORE — I AM A MARATHON DANCER !

THAT we stand for bigger, better and longer marathons is not true, and that we are among the superior ones who look down with contumely from the heights we also have the honor of denying.

Possibly, it was useless and absurd, but that indictment is not sufficient for a conviction, as possibly the man from Mars, being quite impartial about worldly affairs, can see no difference between a marathon dance and—well a number of affairs that seem highly important to some people. Here, for instance, we like marathon dancing better than we like pickles, although we understand there are people fonder of pickles than of marathons.

THERE were in the marathon many things common to the human. An air of cruelty and torture satisfied some. There were pathos, tears. Comedy moved around, escorted by giggles. There was a modicum of a kind of heroics. Romance was not always absent. There were sympathy and admiration on hand. These, we submit, were sufficient to make the affair interesting.

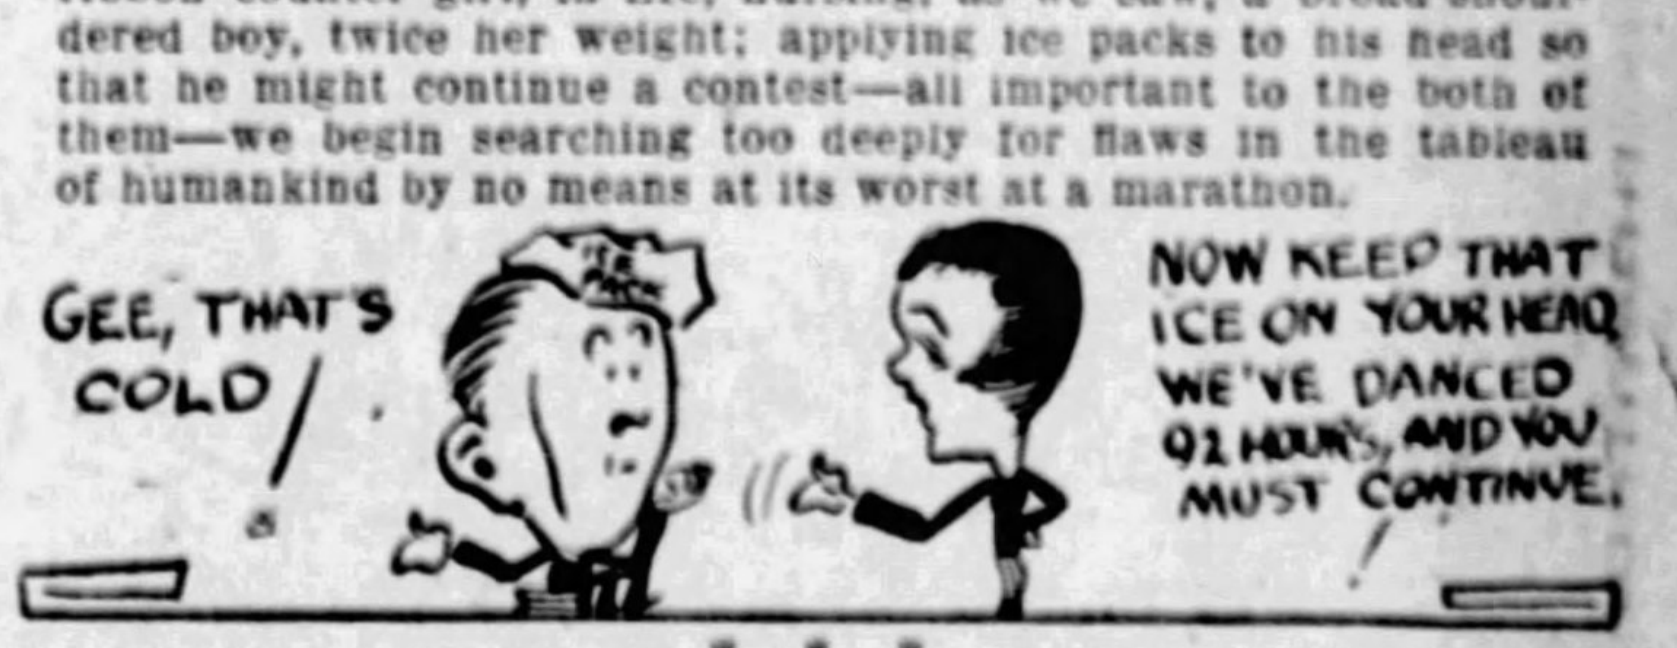
WE LIKE to read how a much-heralded author lifts a nobody from a ribbon counter to a place in the sun, and as we reach the concluding chapter, we sigh—and romantically fall in love with the lowly heroine. Yet when we run smack into the ribbon counter girl, in life, nursing, as we saw, a broad-shouldered boy, twice her weight; applying ice packs to his head so that he might continue a contest—all important to the both of them—we begin searching too deeply for flaws in the tableau of humankind by no means at its worst at a marathon.



GEE, THAT'S COLD!
NOW KEEP THAT ICE ON YOUR HEAD WE'VE DANCED 92 HOURS, AND YOU MUST CONTINUE!

THOSE of us in the audience liked the characters for their own sake. Our interest did not come as it comes in other cases because money and great family names or great talent were involved. We liked them because they were like the rest of us nobodies. There were 40,000 of us nobodies there from time to time and we all enjoyed it—which may or may not be justification.

THOSE who liked it attended. Those who didn't stayed away. What could be fairer? We wish O. Henry could have been there. He would have liked that little girl who put the ice pack on the thick neck of the plasterer.

WAY DIVORCE SUIT REVIVED

Judge William H. Keller, of Superior Court, today reversed a decision of Judge James B. Drew, of Common Pleas Court, who had thrown out the divorce action of Marcella Way, 24, of Charles street, against Harry G. Way.

The lower court's action was based on the fact that Mrs. Way had sued on cruelty charges, but that her husband had deserted her.

Judge Keller pointed out that a recent amendment to the divorce laws had been overlooked. The reversal entitles Mrs. Way to a new trial.

CHARGES DRY AGENTS CONFISCATION ILLEGAL

John Hessian, proprietor of the restaurant at 1106 West Liberty avenue, raided by prohibition agents on March 27, during the opening of the Liberty Bridge celebration, yesterday filed a petition in the Federal District Court asking that the liquor seized be suppressed as evidence. Hessian, in his petition, avers the seizure was illegal as the search warrant did not adequately describe the premises to be searched as required under the espionage act. The raiding party reported confiscating 288 pint bottles of beer and 25 gallons of whisky.

SHE didn't want MONEY.

She didn't mind doing her own work and bringing up four children in a tiny house. But she did long to have Jim his old self again! Jolly with the children—instead of irritable. Happy—eager to do things.

She suspected the real cause of his trouble. She had tried "laxative foods" without much result. Ordinary laxatives she was somehow afraid of.

Feen-a-mint is different!

It is like a bit of delicious chewing gum. You don't swallow it—you chew it!

Its magic laxative principle is released slowly, the way science meant it to be released. It actually becomes part of the digestive fluids—does not disturb digestion. It works with the body—not against it!

It won't torture you with griping pains. It won't poison or weaken the system. It won't enslave you to laxative pills. Begin now to correct constipation this modern scientific way.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

CLOWNING LOVERS

WHAT is it about a middle-aged man that seems so attractive to the modern girl?

Well—sometimes it is a halo of gold dollars and an aura of generosity; but more often it is the glamor of old-fashioned romance. And savoir faire!

The average modern youth seems to have learned all he knows of love-making from the pie-throwing comedies. His idea of a woman-charmer is a combination of Charlie Chaplin, Ed Wynne and a John Held jazz-boy. Shades of Rudolph Valentino!

HELEN ROWLAND

For a woman, success in love may consist in her ability to pretend to be only playing, when she is serious. But, for a man, success in love consists in his ability to pretend to be serious, when he is only playing.

The modern Big Boy cannot stop showing off and "being FUNNY" long enough to make love convincing. To him, all the world's a Great Big Joke, and all the men and women merely vaudeville players!

He can offer a girl a kiss or his heart and hand so casually, that you'd think he was merely offering her an olive. She doesn't know whether he is trying to josh her or trying to marry her.

You seldom see a young man gazing raptly into a girl's eyes across a restaurant table, these days. He is too busy doing cute tricks with the knives and forks or thinking up snappy come-backs. Clowning! Even the sight of the new spring moon only fills him with a burning desire to think up something "bright and funny" to say about it.

A woman can forgive a man who makes her suffer, and even one who makes her weep; but she can never forgive one who makes her blush—who makes himself ridiculous!

To a woman, love is NO JOKE and there is nothing really hilarious about a kiss.

Tenderness, gentleness and the adoring manner are nine points of the Love game!

A CLOWN is a nice thing to have in a circus or to watch in a moving picture comedy; but it is not what you want to go strolling with under a summer moon, or to stand beside at the altar, or to introduce as "my husband!"

* * *

That is why you see the restaurants filled with pretty baby-eyed girls gazing adoringly into the eyes of middle-aged men.

FOR THE LOVELORN

Broken-Hearted

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a girl of 18 and do not go out with boys very often. I have known a fellow for two years and have been in love with him ever since. He never asked me to go out with him before. But for a month he has been asking me for dates which I would not give him. I see him twice a week, for I pass that way when I go home. He has always been puzzled why I would not give him a date. So one day he happened to ask me how old I was and I told him to guess. So he told me that I was about 18 and that was right. But I kidded him and said that I was only 15 and he believed me and thought I was too young to go out with him. So he has never asked me for a date since. Later I told him I was 18, but he would not believe me. I kidded him about a lot of things, but never thought he would believe it, but he does. So, please Miss Gale, advise me what to do, for I like him very much.

BROKEN HEARTED.

Next time you see this boy, invite him to call. That is your privilege, you know. He seems to like you.

Broken-Hearted Effie

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am 17 years of age and have been going with a fellow who is one year my senior, and like him very much. About six months ago he promised me he wouldn't go out with other girls, and lately he seemed to forget about me and dated other girls, so I told him if he did that he would have to keep away from me. But he didn't seem to care much and kept right on. In the summer he went to Europe for his vacation and on his return wanted our friendship back, but I refused, so he went with other girls then and made nasty remarks about me, which I was not pleased to hear. Please let me know, by putting my answer in the Sun-Telegraph how I am to get him back.

BROKEN-HEARTED EFFIE.

Would you really want to get back a boy who made such remarks about you? You are both too young to settle down to each other, so give him the privilege of going out with other girls and have other friends yourself.

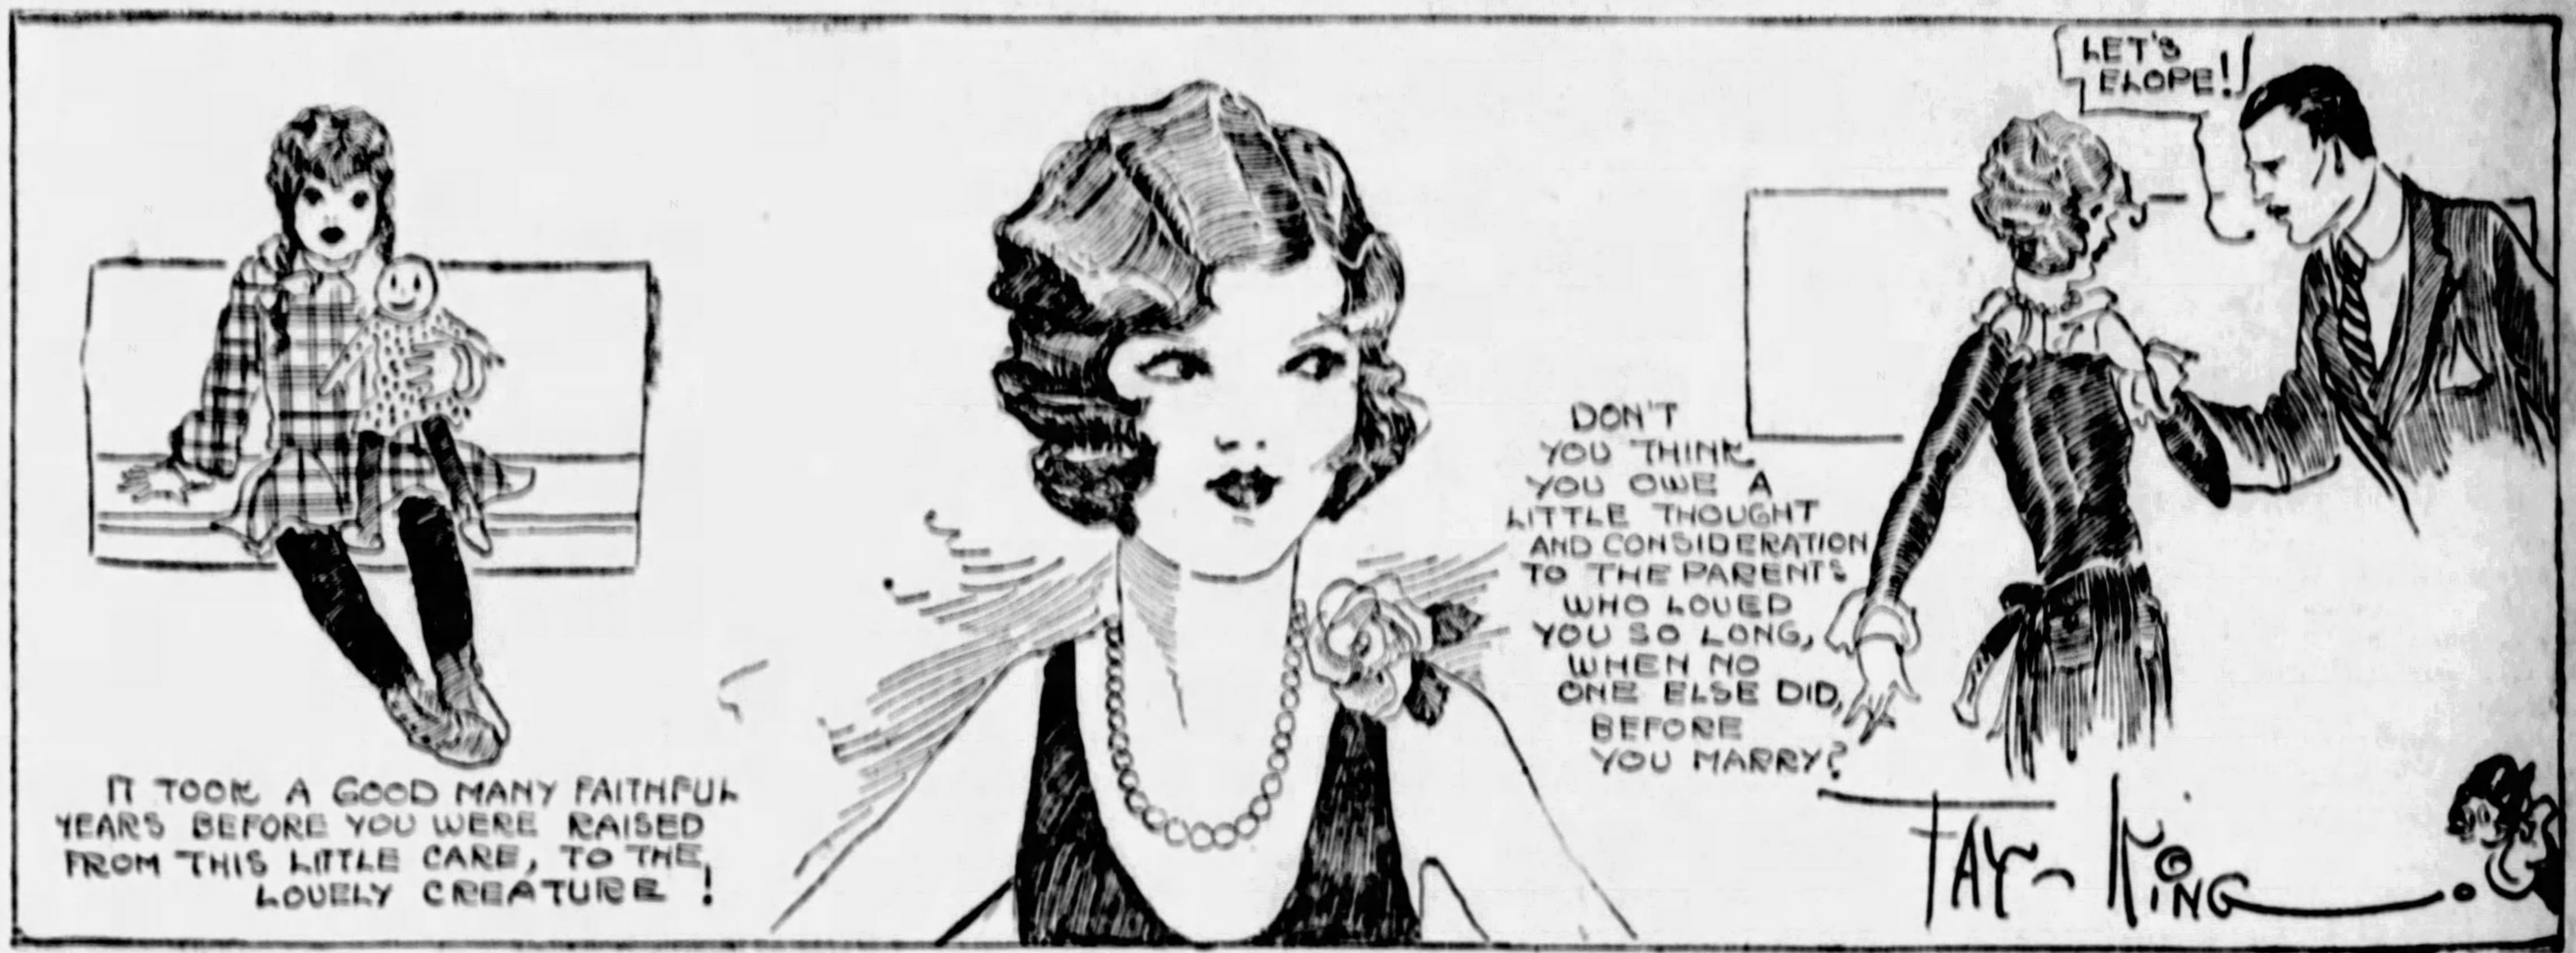
Fay King Cites Pitfalls of Flapper Marriages



IT TOOK A GOOD MANY FAITHFUL YEARS BEFORE YOU WERE RAISED FROM THIS LITTLE CARE, TO THE LOVELY CREATURE!
DON'T YOU THINK YOU OWE A LITTLE THOUGHT AND CONSIDERATION TO THE PARENTS WHO LOVED YOU SO LONG, WHEN NO ONE ELSE DID, BEFORE YOU MARRY?
LET'S ELOPE!
FAY-KING

By FAY KING.

MUCH unhappiness has been caused in families when youngsters take their first love affairs too seriously and suddenly elope if parental permission is not given them to marry.

Children of 16 imagine their families are selfish, unjust, and trying to spoil their lives if they do not jump up and down with joy over the prospective marriage of mere babies.

But the day is bound to come when these children will realize how much better it was that their parents felt this way about it!

Isn't it a greater proof of your parents' love, that they want to keep you a little longer for their very own?

For years they have cared for you when no one else did. Through the baby years of helplessness. Through the sicknesses of childhood. Through the school days. And now that the children have just arrived at the age to which the parents have so long looked forward, the youngsters want to fly right away!

Is it asking such a lot to have a few years in which to enjoy children without the care and worry?

The happiest marriage in the world involves much responsibility. Parents who try to keep children from marrying too young want them to enjoy a carefree youth. Want them to be sure they are marrying someone they really love, and not just marrying because they are in love with love and wish to surprise their friends!

All good parents want to see their children happy! And many children who have eloped in haste have soon regretted and made their parents as well as themselves very unhappy.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, May 2

In nature's infinite book of secrecy a little I can read.—SHAKESPEARE.

WHILE this day may not be notable for much constructive work or accomplishment, yet it may be memorable for the coming to issue of rewards and returns for past efforts and persistent endeavor and patience. Elderly persons and institutions may be approached for such merited recognitions and may be disposed to proffer substantial favors. There may be a proclivity to occultism, or to delving into unusual angles of science or invention, and with gratification.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of returns for diligent labors, study, perseverance and patience, with elderly persons and institutions disposed to friendly and substantial recognition and favors. There may be a turning toward things of the occult or to scientific research in original directions.

A child born on this day may be clever, original and independent in thought and action and at the same time will be responsible and persistent in its efforts.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland M.D.
U.S. Senator From New York

This Is National Child Health Day—A Day for All

EVERY Saturday during the month of May there are picnic parties in Central Park, New York City. Not only is the first of the month May Day, but almost every other day is May Day.

DR. COPELAND

Living as I do at one of the entrances to this great park, I have seen so many "Queens of the May" and so many "Kings" during these years that I feel almost a part of royalty myself. As a matter of fact, these little folks are enthroned in our hearts and their welfare means more to us than the fate of nations.

This is the fifth birthday of National Child Health Day. The American Child Health Association never relaxes its vigilance. Its motto is, "The Health of the Child Is the Strength of the Nation." The association goes forward in its patriotic endeavors.

As I view it, every child has a right to be born in a decent home. Every child has a right to be given wholesome and nourishing food. Every child has a right to medical and dental supervision and the correction of physical defects if any are found.

With hygienic surroundings, proper food, early discovery and removal of physical disabilities—with these fundamentals, the child will have health. That child will contribute to the strength of the nation. A nation builded on this rock cannot fail.

The outdoor life is essential to the welfare of young and old. May Day exemplifies the sort of day every day should be in the life of the child. Games, exercise, fresh air, laughing, singing, all in God's sunlight. This is the formula that will solve most of the problems of childhood.

Wouldn't it solve most of the problems of adult life?

One time the Master said, "Whosoever shall not receive the Kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein."

We will let the theologians apply these words to our spiritual lives. But we can make out for ourselves what they mean as applied to our physical lives.

How can we have health, vigor, happiness, clear minds and the joy of living unless we accept life as a little child? Unless we play, walk and run in the open, breathe fresh air, laugh and sing and enjoy God's sunlight—unless we accept life in the spirit of a little child, we miss the fullness of the earthly Kingdom of God. I doubt, too, if we will be prepared to enter fully into the joys of the spiritual Kingdom.

But, however we grown-ups may order our own lives, we have no right to dwarf or distort the life of a little child. That youngster has certain vested rights and it is our duty to see that they are accorded him.

What sort of man or woman a child will become depends to a great extent upon the eating habits formed in early life. I beg of you to have proper instructions given in this matter. If you are not competent to teach this vital subject, find somebody who can.

Growth, strength of heart, firmness of flesh and muscle, solidity of teeth and bones, richness of blood, clearness of skin, quality of brain cells, mental and physical alertness—all of these are determined by the food and the eating habits. Unless your child is properly trained therein you have failed in your duty.

Let us make this National Child Health Day the beginning of a real drive for the health and well-being of every child in the nation.

IS THANKFUL FOR RELIEF IT GAVE

North Side Lady Claims Ten Herbs Ended Rheumatism, Headaches and Indigestion

"I am certainly thankful for what Ten Herbs did for me, as I had tried many different kinds of medicines without getting much relief from my suffering," was the statement of Mrs. Adam Wagner, 858 Suismon street, North Side, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine to crowds of people.

MRS. ADAM WAGNER

"I used to suffer with indigestion," Mrs. Wagner continued. "Everything I ate seemed to sour and form gas, which was very distressing. I was troubled with headaches and hot spells for two years, and had rheumatism in my knees for six months.

"Ten Herbs gave me satisfactory relief from rheumatism, headaches and hot spells. I am no longer bothered with indigestion or gas on the stomach. Even the first bottle of Ten Herbs made me feel much better, and after using three bottles, I felt like a new person. I am more than glad to endorse your medicine to the public."

Many women and men in this city are learning the value of Ten Herbs as a tonic for weak, run-down systems, and sluggishness of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. The effect of using Ten Herbs is far-reaching. It will not permit waste matter and impurities to remain in the system, and usually promptly relieves the common ailments resulting from disordered stomach, liver and bowels. Ten Herbs benefits and invigorates those organs, restoring normal, healthy action.

The demand for Ten Herbs in this city is increasing by leaps and bounds. It probably is the most widely discussed medicine that has ever been introduced here. There is no other medicine like it—and that accounts for the surprising relief it has given many in this section after they had given up hope of ever being well, having tried medicine after medicine without being relieved.

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

Wins

P. J. DONAHOE

Rumors that he may build an organization to conduct a fight for the nomination of some candidate for Mayor next year arose after the election returns showed that P. J. Donahoe had captured control of the Tenth Ward Republican organization, winning 96 out of 112 members of the ward committee.

SEE DONAHOE BIG FACTOR IN MAYOR RACE

Reports that P. J. Donahoe, Republican leader of the Tenth Ward, is planning to form an organization that will make him a serious factor in the mayoralty race next year started today when complete returns showed that he had gained complete control of his ward organization.

Out of 112 members of the ward committee, Mr. Donahoe elected 94. In the Garfield district, where the city administration leaders have never been beaten in the past, he won 34 out of 36 places. In the Lawrenceville end of the ward he took 28 out of 32, while in Morningside he made a clean sweep, winning 24 places.

The fight for ward control was a stubborn one and gossip in the ward terms it the first skirmish in a campaign that will reach its climax in the mayoralty fight next year. No names have been mentioned except that friends of Mr. Donahoe have hinted that he intends to conduct a fight for "an outstanding Pittsburgher."

Donahoe is confined to his home with illness contracted two weeks before the election.

2 HELD IN AUTO THEFT

Charged with larceny of an automobile, Paul Redding, 19, of Punxsutawney, and Raymond Bates, 20, of Pittsburgh, will be given hearings today before Justice of the Peace George B. Shields of Wilkinsburg. They were arrested last night while, police say, they were attempting to steal the automobile of J. E. Higginbottom of 753 Penn avenue, Wilkinsburg. Police say that Redding drew a revolver on an Indiana, Pa., policeman last week when the latter discovered him in a stolen car.

SECOND CHINESE BOY HELD IN LETTER CASE

Yee Shee Own and "Jimmie" Lee, 15-year-old Chinese boys, residing in Latrobe, are learning it is a serious offense to send improper letters through the mail, especially to a 15-year-old girl. Lee, according to testmony before the United States commissioner, wrote the letters, which were placed in the mail by Yee Shee Own.

Lee was arrested two weeks ago and was held for court by the commissioner. The testimony indicated that he wrote the letters at the instigation of the other boy and it was the latter that placed them in the mails. Yee Shee Own was taken before the comissioner yesterday. He likewise was held for court.

JERRY

The Epic of a Girl Who Had to Wait

by Elenore MEHERIN

The Lawyer Urges Jerry To Bring Proof of Stephanie's Birth

"I'LL explain, There is a certain legal and personal matter that for 15 years was the dominant motive of my late partner's life, To settle this matter became a religion with him, And his most passionate grief that he was to die and leave it unfinished. On his deathbed he entrusted the solution to me, We were friends, I gave a sacred promise that I would carry on for him,

"I am now preparing to fulfill this trust, To do this it is necessary to locate a certain party,

"It may be a mere coincidence, Miss King, but it so chances that I am searching for a girl named Jerry, and a woman named Marza as possible clues to the unraveling of the mystery. I have a description of the girl—black hair, blue eyes. I have a picture and letters of the woman. Have you any idea what I am talking about?"

Her cheeks burned with excitement. And she liked the high rap-rap of her heart. Liked the dramatic intensity of O'Connor's face.

And she thought fluently: "He can come up to the city and find out all about us in 10 minutes. He will now! Too late to back down. Plunge! What in heaven harm can he do? What but hand us the million! What possible motive for harming us?"

"Miss King, you know what I am talking about?"

"You are talking of my half-sister, Stephanie Marsh."

He leaned across the table, clasping his hands with a harsh pressure.

"How old is your sister, Stephanie?"

"She was 20 on July 21."

"And her father?"

"Was Stephen Marsh, who was killed in a railroad accident in August, 1911."

"Is your mother alive?"

Jerry nodded.

"And your father?"

"He died two days after Stephen was killed."

"Two days! And Stephanie is with you—has been with you since your father's death?"

"She is with us now . . . but only for a year."

"Where was she? Does she know of her father?"

"She remembers Stephen. But only last year did she learn the story of her birth."

O'Connor got up and began pacing the floor, his hands dug in his pockets.

"She doesn't know I'v come. Stephanie found a clipping—an ad in the personals—and went wild with eagerness. She wanted to fly down and visit him—her grandfather. I came here on a pretext—just to look him over and tell her about him."

He pulled his collar with a tearing impatience: "Have you any idea what it will mean to her if we can check this all up . . . if we can prove it?"

"No—none."

"Did your mother know of the elder Stephen's frantic search for his son's child?"

"She knew of these ads. She was afraid of losing Stephanie."

"Has she been with you since your father's death?"

"No. She was raised in a convent. Each year my mother visited her. But Stephanie didn't know of me, nor did I know of her. Each thought Marza was ours alone.

"Then last year Stephanie met with an accident. She fell and broke her back."

"Good God! She's not crippled?"

"No. But Marza went mad with grief . . . she thought Stephanie dying. So she told us both. And we brought her home."

O'Connor's eyes flashed, all the melancholy Celt in him stirring to the suggestion of tragedy. This look encouraged Jerry. She thought with a pang of relief: "No ill will come of it!"

The attorney pulled out his watch: "Can you catch the evening train to the city?"

"No—I'm here on business till next Monday."

"Send a wire to your mother and ask her to see me at 1 o'clock tomorrow. Make it urgent. She will not regret it."

CHAPTER LXVI.

HER mind thrilled to the romance of this interview—old Stephen Marsh searching through the years for the child of his child; dying unappeased.

The picture fascinated. Yet Jerry gave no response.

"Why are you hesitant, Miss King?"

"I've come here without my mother's knowledge. For 15 years she kept silent."

"My dear girl, she can't lose your sister now. If the girl you speak of is actually the granddaughter of Stephen Marsh, your mother will have proofs that check with information in my possession. The identity can readily be established by the true person.

"Need I tell you that we had hundreds of responses to our advertisements; hundreds of girls trying to prove they were Stephanie Marsh? Truth is so open and simple and dovetails at every angle with known facts. It is easy for the trained searcher to recognize it.

"We know where the Stephanie Marsh we seek was born; know where and with whom the first years of her life were spent.

"The mother of this girl also knows these facts, and she is the only person who knows all of them. No impostor can furnish such data as the real mother of Stephanie Marsh possesses—such as the circumstances of her child's birth and the whereabouts of her husband at this period.

"I shall know at the first meeting whether or not I have the party I seek."

"How did you know of me? I don't understand that," said Jerry, naively interested in her own part of it.

"In a letter witten to young Stephen Marsh there is a glowing description of a child named Jerry. I have a packet of such letters, the contents of which will be remembered by the party who wrote them.

"You see, Miss King, we had little trouble unmasking impostors. We have some very intimate information. Do you, for instance, remember your father?"

"Clearly."

"You did not of course, as a child know anything of Stephen Marsh?"

"Yes, I remember a visit he paid at Los Gatos. That was the summer just before he was killed. He brought me a silver bracelet with bangles. I was nine and I liked him and I knew my mother did. My father was dying of tuberculosis."

O'Connor stopped his walking. He gave a peculiar humming laugh—the flashing look in his handsome eyes.

"Do you know if you had always lived in California?"

"No. We were in New York when Stephanie was born. But I don't remember that. We were there while my father was in the Ural Mountains, and for about three years after his return."

"Where was your father?"

"In Russia. He was a mining engineer."

"Did he know of the birth of this child to your mother? Have you ever heard her say?"

"He never learned of it. But he knew of Stephen and was jealous of him. And he forced my mother to leave New York. She had to go with him and she had to leave Stephanie there.

"For two whole years she didn't see her. She was broken-hearted."

"And then?"

"Then Stephen was transferred to Chicago, and their child was left all alone in New York. My mother was wild with despair. She was powerless. So Stephen sent for the baby, had her brought to Chicago. She was put in a convent. She was 5 years old, and she lived there till she was 19—"

O'Connor watched Jerry with sharp, brilliant eyes, drinking up her phrases. He interrupted with a quick: "When did your mother tell you all this?"

"Last year when she thought Stephanie dying."

"So you brought her back with you? And how have you explained her?"

"She is known as Stephanie King—my cousin. It was either that or brand her to the world."

He nodded: "But your sister was eager to come down here and visit her grandfather?"

"She was on fire about it. We pictured him magnificent like Stephen. We thought of the fun to dash down here and surprise him with a call."

"Would that you had! He lived 15 years hoping for that. Waiting for it. These last four years he was a lonely man."

"Stephanie will be grieved, She'll feel terribly cheated."

"And she'll certainly want her grandfather's last wishes carried out, Miss King? Why should your mother wish to keep her from benefits this revelation may bring? What motive can she now have?"

"The publicity. Going into court and telling everyone. People won't see it as my mother and Stephen Marsh saw it—as it was—beautiful! inevitable. They'll see it as a wrong. Branding Stephanie. Money isn't worth that."

"There need be no publicity, Miss King, wire your mother that I'll see her in her home tomorrow at ' o'clock."

He swung his shoulders and again gave that peculiar, humming laugh: "And make her know that I'm determined to carry out the wishes of my late partner."

Dizzy with excitement, her head light and the whole world flowing about her in a thrilling, golden glow, Jerry went flying to a telephone. Wire? Whoever heard of such a thing! She was almost bursting to talk—shout it to them—hear their astonished, no, their ghast: "What! What in the world!"

She called for Marza. In a hushed intensity told of the surprising meeting.

"Marza, see him! Listen and do what he says!"

From the moment that she hung up the phone until Friday morning when Lloyd O'Connor summoned her to his office, Jerry went about in a state of delirious excitement.

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By Adele Garrison

Madge, Pleading for Mary, Offers an Opening for Philip Veritzen's Caress

IN MY fear for the merciless judgment which I guessed Philip Veritzen was ready to pronounce upon Mary, I forgot for the moment my resolve to give him no opportunity to sound the personal note. But memory and chagrin came flooding back to me when at the touch of my hand upon his arm as I made my plea for Compassion to my husband's lovely young niece, he bent and swiftly possessed himself of both my hands, then tightly clasping them, brought them up to his lips. It was a movement which brought me so close to him that I might almost have been in his embrace.

"Heart of Gold!" he murmured, a bit theatrically, but investing his words with so plausible a note that I found myself almost believing in the sincerity of the flamboyant flattery. "Your divine compassion is like a sheltering cloak for the fortunate ones you love. Even if I were the merciless man you think me, the mere knowledge of your wish would soften any judgment of mine. But why do you think Mary is in need of a plea for pity from you to me?"

His tone was that of puzzled inquiry, but from deep within my consciousness sounded the note of a little warning bell which I have learned never to disregard. In that moment of clarity I knew that in some way he had discovered Mary's escapade as the masked dancer, and that the ordeal of confession to which the girl had steeled herself was as unnecessary as it would be futile. Not for the first time I sensed the power possessed by this man. He could find out anything he wished, I told myself helplessly, and he would use his knowledge ruthlessly—unless—I wondered if it were colossal vanity for me to interpret the look in his eyes as insuring his implied promise of softened judgment.

Trying to avoid any appearance of prudish resentment, I twisted my hands from his and stepped back a pace, smiling as I did so. For honesty compelled me to admit that I had only myself to blame for his bit of flamboyance.

"I must not tell you the reason for my request now," I said. "That would be a betrayal of confidence. But I know that you will be as merciful as you are just. And I will send Mary to you directly."

I went swiftly out of the room, and directly to my own where I had left Mary, and where I found her, pacing up and down, her face flushed, her fingers clenched into her palms. That the girl's nerves were tense almost to the breaking point, I saw, but a look into her resolute eyes told me that the point would not be reached during her interview with Philip Veritzen. She would take gamely any decision he might make even if it meant the end of the career she had entered with such high expectations so comparatively a short time before.

"He's here!" she exclaimed, stopping her walk as I came into the room and turning her fear-ravaged face to me. I went up to her and tapped her shoulder smartly as I replied, for I knew better than to break down her carefully built up resistance with any show of sympathy. She was too near hysteria for anything but bluntness.

"Of course he is," I said tartly. "It's what we've been expecting, isn't it? Shall I bring you a pair of your uncle's golf stockings?"

She stiffened angrily at the gibe, which was what I wished.

"No thank you," she said "My feet are cold, I'll admit, but I'll manage without help. Where is he?"

"In the library."

"Am I to go down now?"

"Yes."

"Well. So long!" and the lovely defiant figure dashed out of the room, while I looked after her, with apprehensive and distinctly teary eyes.

California Oranges

Modern physicians now prescribe oranges in the treatment of ACIDOSIS for their potent alkaline reaction, both in children and older persons. Vitamins and mineral salts of oranges are a body building and good health necessity.

Eat Sunkist Oranges or drink Sunkist Orange Juice daily as a health measure. Open the day with orange juice. Eat an orange salad for lunch rather than rich, heavy foods; an orange dessert is worthy the finest dinner!

Workers and children, especially, should eat oranges regularly. The school lunch box should contain an orange rather than sweets, if health is to be guarded. Oranges are particularly valuable as an after-school refreshment and "pick-up."

Juicy, sweet California Sunkist Oranges are lusciously good—and available every day in the year. They are the choice for quickly made salads and desserts because they are easiest to peel, separate or slice. The meat is firm and tender.

COMOROSKY AIDS PIRATES' PUNCH

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

Comorosky's Work Shows Bush Used Good Judgment in Trying Him in Outfield When Barnhart Slumped—First Win for Miljus and Fifth Defeat for Malone—Vance Is Accused of "Doctoring" Ball.

MANAGER DONIE BUSH'S judgment in picking Adam Comorosky to play left field, temporarily at least, while Clyde Barnhart fell off in his batting, has been vindicated by the results obtained since the Polish lad was put in the Pirate lineup.

Adam Comorosky.

Four games have been played in the meantime, up until today, and the Bucs have won three of them, only a few bad breaks in Cincinnati Sunday keeping them from making a clean sweep of the four contests.

Comorosky batted .333 in the four games, and might have saved Sunday's tilt in Redland if he had not slipped in trying to climb the embankment in left field in pursuit of a long hit.

COMOROSKY'S speed was in evidence yesterday, when he beat out three infield raps and turned them into basehits, though on another occasion he was caught by Kiki Cuyler's throw in an attempt to score from second base on Burleigh Grimes' single to right. At that he made a great headfirst slide in the play and he demonstrated again that he is one of the fastest men in the league. And speed is a big asset to a ball player and to a team.

If Comorosky does not keep going at a satisfactory pace, there is no doubt that Pete Scott will be given the next chance in left field.

SCOTT is a speed boy, too, but as long as Comorosky maintains a fair batting pace and the club continues at a three-out-of-four clip, Adam's fielding and throwing ability will warrant Manager Bush in keeping him right where he is playing at present.

JOHN MILJUS finally chased his jinx and broke into the "won" column yesterday. He had been in three games prior to the Monday opener with the Cubs, and in spite of the fact that he pitched great ball in nearly every inning that he was on the rubber he lost every time and was charged with three straight defeats.

John Miljus.

He was given credit for yesterday's win because the Pirates broke a tie and nosed ahead while he was in the game in the eighth inning. Watch the Lawrenceville boy go, now that he has broken the ice.

WHILE pitching records are up for discussion, it may be timely to observe that Perce Malone, who was charged with the Cubs' defeat here yesterday, has lost more games than any other pitcher in the big leagues. His record is five defeats, without a victory, and in only one of the five games was he the starting hurler. That was in the game of April 23 in Chicago, when Kremer shut out the Bruins, 6 to 0. Nehf pitched the ninth inning that day, so that Malone has neither won a game nor pitched a full one to date.

IN addition to showing his superiority over Vic Aldridge as a pitcher and a fielder, Burleigh Grimes continues to make that winter trade look all the better by hitting like a Hornsby. As a matter of fact he has been pounding the ball so fast, that he now leads the entire Pittsburgh club in batting, those three solid hits to right field yesterday having boosted his season's average to .465.

Lloyd Waner broke into the .300 class yesterday by tearing off three more safeties yesterday, his average now being .322. Paul Waner raised his average to .383, and the two socks credited to Sparky Adams, one of which knocked in the winning run in the eighth inning, elevated the little second sacker to .281.

THE Brooklyn players recently accused Charley Robertson of the Braves of using glue on his glove to make the ball break like the old shiner. Robertson's defense was that he simply moistened the rosin that is provided for the hurlers in a bag that lies on the ground at the rear of the slab.

Dazzy Vance.

Evidently the Dodgers started something, for now both the Braves and the Phillies contend that Dazzy Vance also is cheating. A Boston man charges that much of Vance's effectiveness is due to the use of a foreign substance on the ball.

"TWO or three years back Vance did not find it necessary to use anything on the ball," said the Hubite, but it's different now.

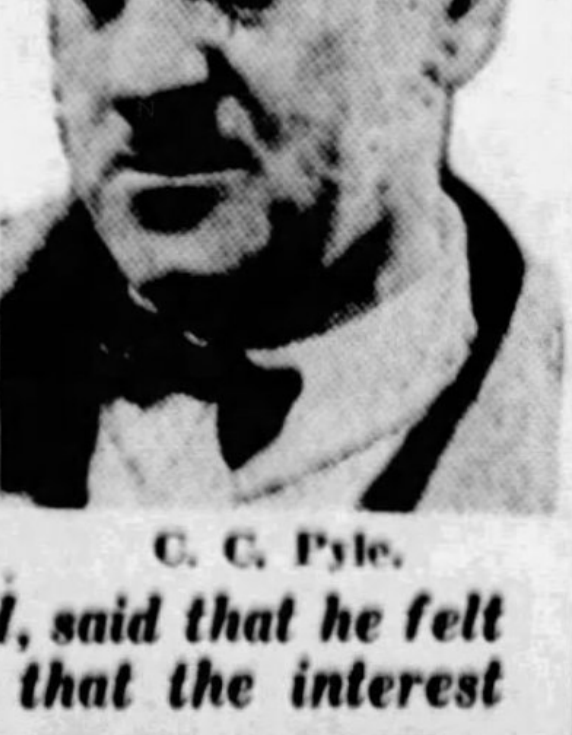
"Vance discovered that there was a certain kind of red clay down in Florida that was just about as effective as the use of paint. On a clear day, the use of this clay wouldn't make much difference; but, when the skies were overcast and the batsman had to concentrate to get his eye on the ball, the use of this clay was deadly.

"By smearing it on the horsehide the ball became so discolored that the pitcher was able to throw it past the bewildered batter. So efficacious did it prove that the Brooklyn team brought a lot of it North, and it is stated that there is a box of it always available on the Brooklyn bench when Dazzie pitches.

"He smears it on his uniform, he rubs the ball against his trousers and his shirt, and the batter thereafter wonders what became of the ball after it left Vance's hands. The Boston and Philadelphia batsmen intend to keep a strict lookout for it in future."

SOME one is fibbing about the financial status of C. C. Pyle in the big bunion derby.

In a letter to a New York friend, Arne Souminen, the Finnish runner, who recently quit the race, stated that Pyle had lost $40,000 already on the race (imagine such a thing happening to Mr. Pyle) exclusive of the $48,000 prize money that he has offered.



C. C. Pyle.

In that event it would not be surprising if something happened to terminate the race, so that no one would finish and the prize money at least would be saved.

BUT Pyle, on a visit to St. Louis to arrange for sending the runners through that city if satisfactory inducements were offered, said that he felt more than optimistic about results, that the interest

PEPPED up to a marked degree by the punch of Adam Comorosky, the Pirates present a swift-moving front as they struggle to get out of the second division. Comorosky added zip to the Bushwhackers yesterday as they scored a thrilling victory over the Cubs in the first meeting of the two teams at Forbes Field. The score was 8 to 7.

The Cuyler-Adams appeal gave a strong flavor to the see-saw fight. The battle swayed from one side to the other with the athletes in the focus of attention injecting many of the high spots. Sparky and Ki did a lot of spectacular things, the little second-sacker finally driving in the winning run in the eighth with a clean single.

Much interest centers in the second fight set for this afternoon. Manager Bush has Carmen Hill all ready for slab duty, while Boss McCarthy of the Bruins is expected to counter with Guy Bush, who, like Hill, is a stalwart righthander.

COMOROSKY PLAYS WELL

The deeds of Adams, Cuyler and the Waner brothers were valiant, but in Comorosky the Pirates had a recruit who was in the game up to his neck, especially when he was on his back in an effort to get to the elusive rocket. Comorosky made three singles and had it not been for a spectacular play by Senor Gonzales and Cuyler, the flying Pole with the Wagnerian legs would have made it easier for a home victory. Ki and the Cuban catcher nipped Commy at the plate in one of the big innings enjoyed by the Pirates.

Adam is likely to remain at the

HOW KIKI, SPARKY AND MATES FARED AT FORBES FIELD

Unusual interest attached to the opening game of the Pirates-Cubs series at Forbes Field yesterday because it marked the first appearance here of Kiki Cuyler, former Pirate star, in a Cub uniform and gave the fans a chance to size him up with Sparky Adams, second base ace, for whom he was traded last fall after riding the bench much of the season. Cuyler made one single that drove in two runs and scored himself to put his team in the lead, 5-4, in the fifth inning, while Adams walked and hit two singles, each of which drove in a runner and the second of which, in the eighth inning, scored Miljus with winning run.

HELEN WILLS ILL; GERMAN TRIP OFF

PARIS, May 1.—(AP.)—Helen Wills is ill from a cold contracted in the chilly rains of Paris, and has decided to cancel her scheduled invasion of Germany. She arrived at this decision after a conference with her physician.

The American tennis star needs to rest for a week at least, the doctor said today.

The doctor added that Mrs. Wills was sure that her daughter would be in shape to go to Amsterdam which will follow the Berlin engagement which was set for tomorrow and Thursday. Mrs. Wills does not wish Helen to endanger the rest of her European tour for the lack of a few days rest now. Little Poker Face will be faced by as strong a eld of women tennis players as Europe can muster at present when she seeks the French hard court title, at St. Cloud, starting May 21.

SPEAKING of SPORTS

by HARRY KECK
SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS EDITOR

THINGS are on the upgrade for Duquesne University in athletics. The students are getting all pepped up, the alumni are coming to life, the Layden coaching system is beginning to get results and a air of optimism is pervading the campus.

And not only that, but the alumni have been given a promise that they will be permitted to take over the control of athletics as soon as they feel they are in a position to do so. The faculty always has held the whiphand in the university's athletic situation.

A fine opportunity awaits the alumni. Will they embrace it and make the most of it, or will they fail in their duty?

THE day is coming when the Dukes will be meeting Pitt and Carnegie Tech regularly in all branches of sports.

The alumni can hasten that day if they will.

Certainly the public would welcome a three-cornered local fight for collegiate athletic laurels. Certainly the Dukes would draw better for both Pitt and Tech than some of the smaller college teams that are brought in for games. The

TAR MUST WAIT YEAR FOR NEW TITLE TRY

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

NEW YORK, May 1.—(AP.)—The storm of the old Jack Sharkey, furious youngster who once smashed his way to the very door of the heavyweight throne room, has swept again through Madison Square Garden.

Like a tornado in human form, the garrulous gob dashed out of his corner last night and crushed Jack Delaney as if the Bridgeport warrior, himself a disappointed title contender, epitomized all the humiliation and heartbreak of defeats that had come to Sharkey since Jack Dempsey knocked him out last summer.

Only one minute and 13 seconds

Round One —That's All

A round of boos from the customers brought a grin to Sharkey's face as the opening gong rang. The sailor man just bounced out stabbing with his left and missed two wild rights to the head. A right to the chin dropped Delaney for no count. Delaney wobbled about the ring. Down went Delaney again from a right hook, for the count of nine. A right uppercut finished Delaney after 1 minute and 13 seconds of fighting.

NOTES of the BOXERS

PLENTY of interesting boxing results among local battlers Monday night. Willie Davies stopped Young Irish in six rounds at Steubenville and Jack McFarland, Wilkinsburg featherweight, drew with Frankie Rio of Cleveland over the same route in the semi-final. Harry Taylor of the North Side knocked out Young Piazzi in the sixth round of their return bout at East Liverpool; Terry Lingo, formerly of Cincinnati and now of the North Side, upset the dope by beating Steve O'Malley, of Bellaire, at Washington, Pa., and Cuddy DeMarco subbed for Young Rudy against Otto Pletz of Cleveland at Youngstown and scored a six-round technical knockout victory.

Eddie Shea and Midget Mike O'Dowd box at Los Angeles tonight. Rene DeVos, the Belgian middleweight, has been matched with Bert Colima for a 10-rounder at Los Angeles, May 22, and Colima also boxes Wilson Yarbo, Cleveland Negro, at Fresno, Cal., May 8.

LEO CARROLL, who is going to be George Falconer's big bet in the County League engagements this season, got away to a flying start at Sharon Sunday when he copped the initial battle for the Oilers.

The big game tonight, St. John's at Stowe, will serve to give the fans a good line on the material that is going to show in the City League this season. Of course, the affair is only a warm-up session, but both managers will no doubt trot out all the available material. Nifty Gardner, who will manage Stowe this season, is expected to star on the firing line for the Rox outfit.

It seems as if the Homestead outfits are going to have a tough time getting in ball games at home this season. Taking a trip over to the steel town last night it was made very evident that Homestead Aces will have to play their home games away from West Field until June. This also goes for the Stephens-Jenkins nine that won the minor A title last year. It is reported that the Aces are going to take their games to Locust Grove.

Well, Cum Posey's athletes managed to get beaten earlier this season than usual. Very few clubs manage to top the Grays by the score that the Middle Atlantic club did on Sunday, and that five-run inning must have been a nightmare for Williams.

But they all lose and the Grays meet the very best of pitching in all their games. However, it was the impotent bats of the Grays that caused the defeat. The Homestead sluggers can usually go out and get five or six runs at any stage of the game, but that was not the case Sunday.

FIGHT RESULTS

At New York—Jack Sharkey knocked out Jack Delaney, 1 round; Jackie Brady defeated Sammy Vogel, 8 rounds; Laddie Lee and Harry Ebbets drew, 8 rounds; Germany Miller defeated Carl Carter, 8 rounds.

500 Attend Inaugural

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

MAYOR CHARLES H. KLINE officially opened the Schenley Park public links golf course at 9 o'clock this morning by driving two balls straight down the fairway that landed almost on the first green. Following the Mayor, Edward G. Lang, director of public works, also sent two beautiful drives off the first tee.

After formal speeches by both, marking the official opening of the municipal links, the regular public links patrons started their year's play.

Mrs. Richard Brown was the first of the public linkers to tee off. The official opening of the course attracted more than 500 enthusiastic municipal golfers to Schenley Park.

Al McBride is again on the job as pro and Andy Petrolia as caddy-master.

The Wildwood Country Club, newest of Western Pennsylvania's golf domiciles, will be opened formally on Thursday, it was learned today, instead of Friday, as originally reported. A buffet and dance will be served. It is anticipated about 500 persons will attend. The golf course, however, will remain closed for a few weeks, its formal opening being slated for Decoration Day, providing weather conditions continue warm.

Nelson Zimmerman, the club pro, is on the job, however, and getting things ship-shape. Adolphe T. Stormanns is the club's manager.

Comorosky Aids Bucs

leftfield post for some time. He scored one run yesterday and he gave the big crowd a thrill when he tried to register a la Frisch on Burleigh Grimes' third single to rightfield. Cuyler planted himself in the way of the drive and thus was able to nail the shot on the first bounce. His hard throw to Gonzales was a bit wide, but Gonzales was quick to get the ball and put it on the speedboy.

All of this happened in the sixth round, the Pirates taking the lead in the inning. Cuyler and his mates piled up five tallies to take the advantage in the fifth. The Bears were in front by a single tally as the Buccos went up to hit in the sixth. Comorosky singled and advanced on a sacrifice. Then came Grimes' hit and the big scene at the plate. Grimes, however, went to second on the number and bigger things began to happen.

With two out Lloyd Waner slammed a three-bagger to right, scoring Grimes, and Adams followed with an infield hit that tallied Sprout, putting the Buccos in the lead.

Cuyler took it upon himself to put the Cubs in the lead in the big fifth. The invaders were trailing by four runs at the start of the frame. Singles by Grimm and Butler, an error by Grantham and Maguire's hit scored two runs and put two more on third and second with two out. Up came Cuyler, who smacked out a single, tying up the game.

CUYLER THRILLS FANS

Heathcote followed Cuyler with an easy roller toward Wright. Ki was running on the play and when he saw the ball hop queerly over Wright's head he put on full steam ahead and sailed over the plate. His run gave his club the upperhand, but the Cubs could not hold the advantage.

John Miljus, relief pitcher, scored the winning run in the eighth. John had three balls and two strikes when Pat Malone, who succeeded Phil Weinert on the slab, let fly with a wide pitch that rattled along to the screen, Miljus pulling up at second. L. Waner sacrificed and Little Sparky singled to score Miljus.

Grimes pitched cleverly through most of the game, Lefty Grimm chasing him with a beautiful three-bagger with two out in the eighth. The three-ply sock to right center scored Riggs Stephenson with the tying run. Stevie a moment before had driven Heathcote across with a double.

Manager Bush yanked Grimes on top of Grimm's long hit and Miljus came in to retire Gonzales with Grimm on third base.

Weinert is the same lefthander who spent a short time with the Phillies. He starred last season for the Mission club of the Pacific Coast League. Hack Wilson, out of the Cub lineup with a lame ankle, batted for Lefty in the seventh and Pat Malone finished the game.

CHICAGO RACING SEASON OPENS AT AURORA TRACK

CHICAGO, May 1—(AP.)—The 150-day racing season for the Chicago Metropolitan district opened today at the Aurora track with a record-breaking entry and the mile handicap.

Advance ticket sales have broken all records at the Aurora track. The Aurora season extends for 29 days and will be followed by programs at Arlington Park, Lincoln Fields and Hawthorne. This is the first Illinois season to open with betting legalized.

Three Cardinal Regulars Out Of Game

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 1.—Three Cardinal regulars, Chick Hafey, right field; Bob O'Farrell, catcher, and Wattie Holm, third base, are on the sick list.

Hafey suffered concussion of the brain in a collission with a concrete wall yesterday; O'Farrell is nursing a thumb battered by a foul ball; Holm will undergo an operation for removal of a tumorous growth back of his right shoulder.

Walter Roettger, regular left fielder, will take Hafey's place, Ray Blades filling in for Roettger; Davis and Mancuso are subbing for O'Farrell; High is in Holm's berth at third.

CHILLY SAUCE

BY CHILLY DOYLE

IT is almost humorous to watch Paul and Lloyd Waner, two little lefthand batters, assault lanky southpaw pitchers who rise up like towers from the high pitching slabs.

In the past several days Paul and Lloyd have faced Jim Joe Edwards, Eppa Rixey and Phil Weinert, three fellows, who, if they were laid end to end, would form a bridge long enough to cross a good-sized river. In the three games, the Oklahoma jackrabbits have cracked out 13 hits, the younger brother owning seven of the huge bouquet of their favorite roses.

THE two famous Pirates are off to a big start and apparently they will be hard to stop. Lloyd lumped off poorly last season and finished with a mark of 355. In the relative period of his career the previous spring, Paul made a bad start and wound up with 335. There are a lot of stars who would be glad to open with a rush and close with Paul's first-season figure.

They're a great pair of batters, so sure at the plate that it is an event when either one of them strike out.

IF THE fans stick to Comorosky the bow-legged boy is likely to show them a lot of thrills this summer. He was literally flying as he tried to beat Cuyler's throw to the plate in the sixth inning. There is no athlete in the sport who could have raced home ahead of Cuyler's fierce shot, but Commy's attempt was as worthy as anybody could wish.

The Flying Pole left his feet more than 15 feet from the goal as he dove head-first. No part of his low-slung body seemed to be touching ground as Senor Miguel grabbed the ball and touched him.

CUYLER'S part in the play was somewhat premeditated. Grimes had stung two hot singles down the rightfield line off Weinert's outside offerings and the former Pirate was stationed in an advantageous position. He actually had the ball cocked and ready to throw as Commy whirled around third.

Dukes' Cage Fete Listed

By JESS CARVER.

A BIT of running and jumping and a bit of tennis, and to cap it all, a bit of dining in the evening comprises the day's sport program among the collegiates.

The running and jumping will take place in Carnegie Tech's Bowl, where the Tartan track and field varsity will make a third attempt to stage the twice postponed track season inaugural. The Tartans are billed to compete against a picked team of P. A. A. athletes, former college stars for the most part.

In the realm of the racqueteers, the Notre Dame tennis varsity and the Dukes of Duquesne University with four veterans on the squad, will pry off the local intercollegiate tennis lid with a match on the Duke courts. Notre Dame will be opening a two match stay in Pittsburgh, as Pitt is to be played on the Stadium courts tomorrow.

Tennis, like track, has been roughly handled by the weather so far this year, with the result that none of the local college teams have been able to attain any sort of shape. Pitt alone has been forced to call off three matches, two with Wash-Jeff and with Ohio State.

DUKES TO BANQUET

This evening at 6:30 in the Fort Pitt Hotel, the annual basketball [illegible] Duquesne University will be held, with Coach Chick Davies and his Conference runner-up team as guests of honor.

In connection with the banquet, varsity letters will be awarded, and a captain for next season elected. It is possible that the number of letters awarded will be the smallest in the history of the school.

Manager of Athletics John Holahan has arranged for a number of interesting speakers for the evening.

Following today's track meet, the Tech team will be idle until a week from today when the annual dual meet with Pitt will be held in the Pitt Stadium. On Saturday, Tech will be host to about 1,000 high school athletes hailing from a wide range of territory at the annual Carnegie Tech interscholastic track and field championships.

Pitt and West Virginia will engage in a dual meet at Morgantown Saturday.

SANDWICH, England, May 1.—Another American professional, Tommy Armour, has challenged Archie Compston for a 72-hole match, but thus far the great English player has not yet accepted.

Silas Newton, an American sportsman, backed Tommy in his challenge of the conqueror of Walter Hagen, the match to be played for a thousand pounds sterling, about $5,000.

PYLE RACE ENDANGERED BY DEPUTY SHERIFF

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 1.—Among those who waited to welcome Charley Pyle's transcontinental leggers last night was a deputy sheriff of Sangamon county. He had a piece of paper for Mr. Pyle. It was headed "Writ of Attachment" and was in favor of the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank of Champaign, now in the hands of a receiver.

Unfortunately for the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank, Mr. Pyle, who is promoter and not a runner, did not arrive.

There was, however, Harold (Red) Grange, who plays football under the management of Pyle, acts in the cinema and who has become one of the country's best-known ex-icemen. The deputy was disappointed at not finding Pyle, but glad to see Grange, for whom he also had a writ of attachment in favor of the Champaign bank.

The writs were explained as efforts to collect on a note by Pyle for $20,278 and one by Grange for $21,502. The notes, bank officers said, were given without security.

The deputy advised Grange that personal property could be attached when the writs were served. Grange told him he did not own any of the equipment used in connection with the derby.

Pyle's 71 pavement pounders today bent their steps northward from here, 31 miles to Lincoln, the town that "Honest Abe" christened by breaking a watermelon for a group of Illinois first sub-dividers. Peter Gavuzzi, bristle-bearded Britisher, continued to lead the pack with an elapsed time of 262:22:47 for the 2,193.1 miles.

Four hours 40 minutes and 24 seconds behind him was Andrew Payne, youthful Oklahoman and holder of second place.

John Salo, Passaic, N. J., displayed wonderful speed by arriving first after the 24-mile sprint from Virden, which he covered in 3:01:50, a speed of almost nine miles an hour. Gavuzzi was second in 3:07:40.

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

aroused has been far in excess of expectations, and that he believes 30 runners will go the route, finishing about May 18, or eight days behind schedule.

He is now planning a six-day race for the winners in Madison Square Garden, New York, to clean up any extra dollars that may be lying around loose, and after that, with Red Grange and a few others he will go to Africa. If he runs true to form he probably will stage some sort of a jungle tournament or come back with the signed contracts of a few lions.

Sharkey's Comeback Late

of the first round was the dulled Rapier of the North able to last before Sharkey's crushing drive. Almost before the echoes of the opening gong had died, a volley of short hooks to the head dropped Delaney, badly hurt, to one knee.

Snarling, bitter, tigerish in his ferocity, Sharkey leaped into his wobbly foe, felling him with a looping right to the head. Then, as Delaney writhed on the canvas, pulled himself to his knees, and swayed finally to his feet, Sharkey waited, right hand poised.

Full on the chin, with power sufficient to fell an ox, the rampaging sailor ripped his right uppercut flush into Delaney's twisted features as the trembling French-Canadian, eyes closed, head buried in his chest, stumbled forward.

No fighter could have risen from that final blow.

Above the fallen fighter, now still as the referee finished the count of 10, Sharkey snarled, tears of pure ferocity and pent-up feeling rolling down his cheeks. As the crowd of 15,000 roared their acclaim of him after almost a year of boos and hisses, Sharkey turned his face defiantly to them, the wetness still on his cheeks.

In the crowd about the arena were Baron Huenefeld, Hermann Koehl and Maj. Fitzmaurice, trans-Atlantic fliers, viewing a spectacle of this kind for the first time.

The blast of the old Sharkey who crushed Harry Wills, George Godfrey and Jimmy Maloney to win acclaim as a great youngster only to fade before Dempsey's mauling fists and the blows of every fighter since came too late to boost him back to title challenging consideration this year.

Tex Rickard, in whose heavyweight elimination tournament Sharkey lost this winter to Johnny Risko after a miserable draw with Tom Heeney, declared that Sharkey must fight more battles of this kind to regain his prestige. There can be no two title fights this year, Rickard said, and Heeney, winner of the tournament, already has signed to meet Tunney for the championship in July.

WANTS DEMPSEY AGAIN

NEW YORK, May 1.—(INS.)—Emboldened by his master stroke in knocking out Jack Delaney in 1 minute 12 seconds, Jack Sharkey today issued a challenge to Jack Dempsey for a return match and labeled the impending title match between Gene Tunney and Tom Heeney as an exhibition between "two second-raters." He feels he has regained his old place and intends to keep on fighting until he gets his chance at the title.

Sharkey is sure Dempsey is coming back for at least one more fight and he wants to get even with the man who clawed him to pieces in seven rounds last June.

ALL Jack Sharkey ever is to Tex Rickard is bad news, a pain in the neck, or what have you. When Tex banks on him to come through with a fine victory the big Lithuanian flops like a deflated blimp, and then, when Tex wants him to fold up and do a fadeout he scores a sensational victory that puts him back in the heavyweight running.

Rickard hoped to build up Sharkey to meet Gene Tunney for the title this year, but he looked so terrible against Tom Heeney and Johnny Risko that Tex had to sign Heeney to meet Tunney, and now Sharkey comes back with a one-round knockout victory over Jack Delaney. It is the only knockout victory of the heavyweight elimination series and makes Sharkey stand out head and shoulders over Heeney as the logical contender, inasmuch as Heeney was just able to get a draw with him in one of Sharkey's worst fights and was unable to score even a knockdown against the much lighter Delaney, although he won the decision over the latter.

Before his fight with Delaney, Sharkey declared he was going to revert to his old fighting style and would stand for no advice from his corner, and he evidently followed out his plans. The net result is that the Tunney-Heeney fight loses caste and will require considerable steaming up to make it a paying venture.

Oh, that Sharkey man! If he were a baseball player, he'd certainly be a lefthander from the ground up.

rivalry is a natural one and should be fostered.

But first it is up to the alumni of the Bluff institution to show that they mean business by assuming the control of athletics that has been offered them and applying themselves diligently to the task of putting the Dukes on the athletic map where they belong.

THE Dukes' athletic management has been very ably guided during the past year by John D. Holohan, a student in the university, who will be graduated in June. There is talk of naming a graduate manager of athletics for the next college year, and Holohan, I understand, has the inside track for the position. He should be named without further consideration of candidates. He has made good under exacting conditions and if he is in a receptive mood to accept the berth deserves a chance to show what he can do while a wave of athletic enthusiasm is gripping his alma mater.

Workers, Dissatisfied, Give Ideas to Cut Unemployment.

By B. C. FORBES

NEVER before has this column received such an outpouring of letters from workers of all classes. Bolshevism has died down, but very widespread dissatisfaction has been created among workers by: First, the dismissal of employes during the last nine months because of slackened business. Second, the refusal of many companies to engage any man over 40, or women even younger. Third, the employment of married women at a time when many married men are unable to get jobs.

How to meet the existing situation should be seriously pondered by all responsible employers.

Let us catch a glimpse into the workings of the minds of various types of workers.

HERMANN ZEISHOLD, Elizabeth, N. J., writes:

"It seems obvious to me that, generally speaking, married women should last be considered for employment in any capacity whatever. In these days of stress married women in gainful occupation are a menace to social equity. The simple fact is, that our economic structure rests upon a single standard of income. In the degree that women, especially married women, are permitted to invade the general world of work, in that degree shall we dislocate if not demoralize our commonwealth.

"If we should sanction double incomes or married incomes, if you will, at the price of general social misery and economic unwholesomeness and unhappiness, then please count me out."

THIS pathetic letter from a Wisconsin woman speaks for itself:

"I am a married woman for 11 years. I have been working for the last two years because my husband could not get steady employment, and there is a daughter 12 years.

"I do know there are women working that should stay at home. If my husband could get steady employment I would be only too glad to give my work up to someone else that needs it. I think there are a good many sad families: the man looks and looks for work and drifts away. I got a letter from my husband sometime ago. He wrote, 'Anna, have you ever been in the city without money and hungry? Well, that's the way I am now.'

"My idea is, give the man with a family first chance.

"If my husband got a job and we could get the little family together again, I would be the happiest woman in the world."

WETHERBY BOORMAN, Berkely, Cal., writes in part:

"Apparently industry has practically solved it's production problems and America is beginning to be faced with the curious phenomena of being able to produce all it can comfortably use, without keeping everybody busy.

"Our present economic system has not been evolved to take care of a situation like this—the consequences will me, I am afraid, that there will be an increasing amount of mad adjustment, competition for work, lack of opportunity to create new wealth on the part of the individual—because of a surplusage, potential or actual, of what the world can use.

"Don't you think the time has arrived when a searching inquiry into the basic reasons for employment and unemployment is in order?

"Proposals to restrict the labor of married women, to do public works during slack periods, etc., are only patches on an old suit of clothes. I am firmly convinced that America will ultimately face the need to revamp it's economic system, to the end that there will be an automatic equity giving each individual their proportionate share of the produced wealth of the country. The wage yardstic of the individual productivity is becoming useless.

"Why shouldn't economics and industry be so arranged that we can all help to make the social millenium come true?"

FROM a western railway employe, whose salary is $155 a month and whose wife teaches music:

"Employers in general employ help that will turn out the work satisfactorily at the cheapest price, which is a privilege that should not be disturbed. The only practical remedy is to establish a rate of pay that will enable a man to support a family. I am a railway employe, and while our conditions have improved over what they were, there are plenty of conditions which should be and could be eliminated if the 'management of the railroads were willing."

HERMAN LEDDING, Milwaukie, Oregon, observes:

"Your column urging that efforts be made to abolish the seven-day week and the 365-day work year as a 'cure' for unemployment, shows what is coming. Unemployment is increasing and may soon be serious here as it is in England, Germany, Italy and other countries, unless a shorter working plan is adopted."

Coca Cola Earnings Up.

Net income before federal taxes of $2,288,003.81 for the first quarter of 1928. This compares with $2,[illegible]45,512.71 for the same period last year. NEWS AND VIEWS

Mack Beats Last Quarter.

Mack Truck earned $1.01 a share in the first quarter on 735,676 common shares, net income amounting to $745,672 after depreciation, federal tax, etc. This compares with 64 cents a share on 715,451 common shares after preferred dividends in the previous quarter and $1,459,304 or $1.50 a share on the common in the first quarter of 1927. A statement by the company says: "From inquiries and business already received, indications are that the second quarter will show material improvement over the first, both in volume of orders and number of trucks delivered and should compare very favorably with the second quarter of 1927."

Shell After Sinclair.

Latest gossip in connection with Sinclair Oil is that Shell-Union Oil is desirous of acquiring the property and has been accumulating the stock in the open market. A previous rumor on Sinclair was that a gigantic combine involving that company, Marland Oil and possibly Phillips Petroleum was in the making. Shell-Union is the American company of the Royal Dutch-Shell interests. It is a completely rounded company with 10,000,000 outstanding shares of which Royal Dutch interests own 7,200,000. Gross earnings for the year 1926 were $65,040,000. Report for 1927 has not yet been issued, but gross for the nine months to September 30 last year was $35,941,000. The Shell-Union hook-up with Sinclair seems logical to some observers in the industry in view of the fact that it is generally thought that a large portion of the Sinclair funded debt is held in Europe, the Rothschilds being mentioned as among the more important owners.

Railway Signal Strong.

General Railway Signal strengthened up noticeably today in response to a resume of the company's operations by one of the big New York houses, which said: "General Railway Signal common stock is not as speculative as might be supposed from its share market price changes in the past year, and from the fact that it showed earnings for the first quarter less than dividend requirements. Its average earnings have been large, and there is strong reason to believe that business and income will improve again quite soon. An expansion in railroad operations and in ordering of specialized train control and block equipment, such as is manufactured by this company is looked for within the next few months. It is estimated that this company does approximately one-half of the business in the United States in these special devices and products. In addition, it has a large export business, with foreign selling agencies in a number of countries. At the end of last year, General Railway Signal's current asset position was the strongest of its history, with net working capital of $10,433,000, and current assets almost 7½ times current liabilities."

Profit Margins in Business.

Indicating the importance of size in American business, 78.2 per cent of the profits of all corporations in this country are made by firms whose profits reach $10,000 or over, according to the New York Trust Company. Due to the low profit margin and the necessity for producing and marketing on a large scale, the large corporation is in a better position to establish a profitable basis than is its smaller competitor. Manufacturers with more than $5,000,000 a year net income represent one-tenth of 1 per cent of the total number of manufacturing corporations, yet they earned 44½ per cent of the total manufacturing income. According to the federal corporation tax returns about 41 per cent of American corporations show a deficit each year. In 1925 the weakest industry was mining, in which only 28.6 per cent of the companies made a profit. The railroad and utility companies achieved the highest net profits of that year, amounting to 12.6 per cent of sales as compared with 12.5 per cent for banking and insurance concerns. The lowest net profit was in agriculture, amounting to only 1.7 per cent.

P. R. R. Warrants Mailed.

Warrants covering the privilege of subscribing at the par of $50 per share to the new issue of $62,418,250 capital stock of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company are being mailed today to the company's 143,011 stockholders. Each stockholder all registered upon the books at the close of business on April 14, 1928, is entitled to subscribe to 12½ per cent of his present holdings, or in the ratio of one new share for each eight shares hitherto owned. The warrants are of two kinds, one for whole shares and the other fractional shares, expressed in eighths. For example, the present owner of 50 shares will receive a warrant for six whole shares and a fractional warrant of two-eighths of a share. Subscriptions will be accepted only for full shares, so that the holders of fractional share warrants have either the option of selling them in the open market or of buying additional fractions sufficient to make up a whole share. Payment for the new stock may be made in full on or before May 31, 1928, or $25 per share on or before that date and the remaining $25 on or before August 31, 1928.

Miller Rubber Passes Preferred.

Directors of Miller Rubber Company have deferred action on the $2 preferred dividend, due at this time.

RAILS SCORE NEW PEAK PRICES

NEW YORK, May 1.—(AP.)—The stock market resumed its march to higher ground today with the rails again in the forefront of the advance. Extreme gains in the active issues ranged from 1 to 12¼ points, with a few soft spots developing in the tobaccos, coppers and oils. Trading was not quite as heavy as yesterday, although the 2,000,000-share mark was crossed before the end of the third hour.

Despite the growing fears of a credit stringency, speculators for the rise conducted their operations with confidence, and succeeded in attracting a large public following. The West and South were again heavy buyers of stocks, and in some quarters this was interpreted as an indication of increased purchasing power through the recent advance in wheat and cotton prices. Lowering of the call money rate from 6 to 5½ per cent reflected the passing of month-end demands for funds, and the return of interest and dividend checks to the banks.

Southern and southwestern rails were in brisk demand. New peak prices for the year or longer were registered by Missouri Pacific common and preferred, Chicago and Alton common and preferred, Southern Railway and Reading second preferred, the gains in which ran as high as 3½ points. Lackawanna, Reading and Atchison sold 2 to [illegible] points higher.

A wave of profit taking swept through the market around midday, but was checked by the lowering of the call money rate. Standard Oil of New York sold down a point but quickly recovered its loss.

Electric Auto Lite extended its early gain to 12¼ points by touching a new peak at 135. Frank G. Shattuck jumped 7 points to a new top at 99¾ and Dupont, Advance Rumely common and preferred and Eastman Kodak advanced 4 to [illegible] points. Goodrich Rubber, Johns Manville, Hudson Motors, American Metals, Davison Chemical, American and Foreign Power and Utilities Power and Light extended their gains to 3 points or more.

FIRM TONE IN LIST HERE

Securities were in fair demand in the early dealings on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today with the better industrials moving ahead slowly in response to the sustained demand for shares in the New York market and the growing scarcity of floating supply.

Standard Sanitary made the best level since the company declared the 42-cent quarterly dividend last week. This action was disappointing to some of the traders who had been expecting a 50-cent payment, but the general assumption seems to be that directors of the company will establish the latter rate later in the year, unless, of course, business should take a decided turn for the worse. This does not appear probable based on building statistics, in fact, there is some disposition to believe that construction activities will increase as the year goes on.

Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt sold up to 59 again on a few small-lot trades. On the other hand, Union Steel Castings dropped back a point from yesterday's high mark of 39½.

Lone Star Gas was slightly higher, making a rather sickly response to the better market for oil stocks in New York, but friends of the company are confident of the stock's position and assert that it will be "in the money" when the time is ripe.

BUGS BAER Says

THE mystery man of Europe is in America.

He's got money.

That's what makes him a mystery.

He's surrounded by a quartet of secretaries, a brace of stenographers, one assorted chauffeur, a private aviator, a detective, a masseur and a small but select herd of valets.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

No matter what happens, he has always some one near to blame.

When you see a mob of fugitives rushing out into the wooded hills and smiling valleys you know that the mystery man wishes to be alone.

When he dictates a letter he has an extra stenographer to handle the commas.

When he takes a bath a traffic cop stands on the mat to divert traffic to the east and west.

He spent three thousand spinners for radiograms while crossing the Atlantic, and is too busy to read the answers.

He likes tobacco so much that he hires a man to smoke his cigarets. Although he didn't fly over the Atlantic, he is as welcome as a sailor on a relief boat, for he is the first European financier who is over to spin the top and put instead of take.

Power Trust Taxes the People It Tries to Poison

IN the last analysis who is it that contributes the $1,144,000 being spent this year by the National Electric Light Association for propaganda and "educational" purposes?

WHY, IT'S YOU AND I AND EVERYONE ELSE WHO TURNS ON AN ELECTRIC LIGHT TO READ OR PLUGS IN AN ELECTRIC IRON TO PRESS A FROCK.

All this money comes out of the rates collected from the household consumers of the country. The National Electric Light Association gets a portion of the gross receipts of each electric light company which records the contribution as an "operating expense."

EACH OF US IS THUS TAXED BY A MONOPOLY TO PROVIDE FUNDS USED AGAINST US BY A PROPAGANDA AND LOBBY ORGANIZATION THAT BUYS PROFESSORS, CORRUPTS NEWSPAPERS AND "INFLUENCES" LEGISLATORS.

Why do they seek control of all impartial sources for information and guidance to public opinion? The answer has been made abundantly clear in the Trade Commission hearings. The power trust is determined:

1. To prevent Boulder Dam being built, lest it supply electricity to extend the Los Angeles example of cheap current sold by a municipal plant to citizens at cost. (Los Angeles' rate is five cents per kilowatt hour; what is yours?)

2. To prevent state regulatory commissions from reducing rates for electric current by disallowing earnings of water capitalization.

Of course, they want to control "public opinion;" it means tens of millions of dollars every year to them, and WE HAND THEM THE MONEY used to corrupt and control public opinion as they choose.

You and I and the rest of us contributed more than the $1,144,000 contributed to the National Electric Light Association, being spent this year. We also supplied the $400,000 collected since last June 1st by the Joint Committee of Utility Associations, formed admittedly to defeat Boulder Dam and also to defeat the Walsh resolution for investigation of the power lobby.

You and I contributed the far greater sums handled by the thirty-eight state "public utility information bureaus," already demonstrated to have subsidized professors, to have provided whisky and what not for state legislators, to have eliminated annoying text books from the schools, to have introduced a hand-made "catechism" into civics courses of high schools, to have bullied and cajoled newspapers into carrying favorable news and editorial items by the offer or refusal of advertising—and whatever else may be revealed in this investigation from day to day.

You and I put up the $20,000 (two years' senatorial salary) paid by the Joint Committee of Utility Associations FOR A FEW WEEKS' SUCCESSFUL WORK IN LOBBYING BY EX-SENATOR IRVINE L. LENROOT, HIRED TO DEFEAT THE WALSH RESOLUTION.

You and I were taxed the huge sum paid the lobby's high powered executives in New York: $28,735 in nine months for Stephen B. Davis, $22,135 in the same period for J. S. S. Richardson—and $39,994 in nine months to Josiah T. Newcomb, in charge of the lobby in Washington.

Another $6 and Newcomb would have made an even $40,000 out of it.

Well, maybe it is all right for us to be taxed for these purposes. But it looks a little like robbing a sleeping man's pockets to buy him a nice big bottle of poison.

WHEN OUR SCHOOLS AND OUR NEWSPAPERS ARE POISONED, WE SHALL NO LONGER BE INTELLECTUALLY ALIVE.

WHEN OUR LEGISLATURES ARE POISONED, WE SHALL BE POLITICALLY ENSLAVED, WHICH IS A SYNONYM FOR POLITICAL, IF NOT NATIONAL DEATH, IN THE LANGUAGE OF A FREE PEOPLE.

Get the Facts!—Grand Jury Vice Probe Needed

The charge that vice and crime flourish in Pittsburgh under police protection is too serious to be dismissed by Public Safety Director Clark's sneer of "ballyhoo" and "publicity stunt." Thousands of churchgoers have signed petitions asking for Federal and county grand jury investigations.

There SHOULD be a thorough probe of the facts—fearless and complete.

Pending the result of such an investigation the people of Pittsburgh will suspend judgment.

Director Clark should welcome the proposed official inquiry, if his department has clean hands.

The latest indictment of the city administration was made at a meeting of thousands of citizens in the East End, supplementing a similar meeting in the North Side recently. Speakers charged that vice conditions were rampant.

One, a settlement worker, boldly declared the police collected weekly graft for protection of vice, gambling dens and bootleg dives in the district in which she works.

Another, a Negro clergyman, told of being threatened by the police because he asked to have his district cleaned up for the benefit of the people he serves.

Now, this is not a matter that can be dismissed as the ravings of a lot of goo-goos. If it concerned but a few zealots seeking sensational publicity for themselves, the public might ignore it, as the police seem to have been doing. But these people are the sturdy citizen fabric of our city—folks with their feet on the ground.

Nothing less than a complete investigation of the vice and graft charges will satisfy the citizens of Pittsburgh.

Today Child Health Day; Make It Count in Home

Gov. Fisher, in announcing the observance of the fifth annual Child Health Day today, May 1, declares that no state has excelled Pennsylvania in protection of the health of children. In reviewing health conditions in general, he says that 1927 was the lowest in infant mortality and that never before had so many defects in school children been corrected.

That is a splendid record and something worth while to reflect upon as a thought for Child Health Day, sponsored by the American Child Health Association, the slogan of which is "The Health of the Child is the Strength of the Nation."

The future of the nation depends on the children of today. Proper nourishment, care and cleanliness, plenty of good air and exercise are especially what a child needs from a health standpoint. Hence, the home is where Child Health Day should receive the most serious attention.

May the Governor's report on public health next year be better than that of this year.

"Please Send Us a Dollar"

A Poor Way to Sell.

Congress is considering a bill to eliminate a nuisance that has made many a good American lose his temper.

The purpose of the bill is to make it against the law for petty manufacturers to send unordered ties, socks, handkerchiefs and other similar articles through the mail to people's homes, with a request for a remittance if you like the stuff—and for return of it if you DON'T. Nobody wants to buy in that way, and nobody wants to be put to the trouble of wrapping up and mailing back things that were never asked to be sent.

Postmaster General New, powerless to prevent this practice in the past, requested this legislation in his last report—and Congress should pass the bill.

Laws Should Fit

Do our people deserve the abuse they get from fanatical drys because they do not obey the prohibition laws to the last jot and tittle?

Perhaps the fault is with the laws and not with the people.

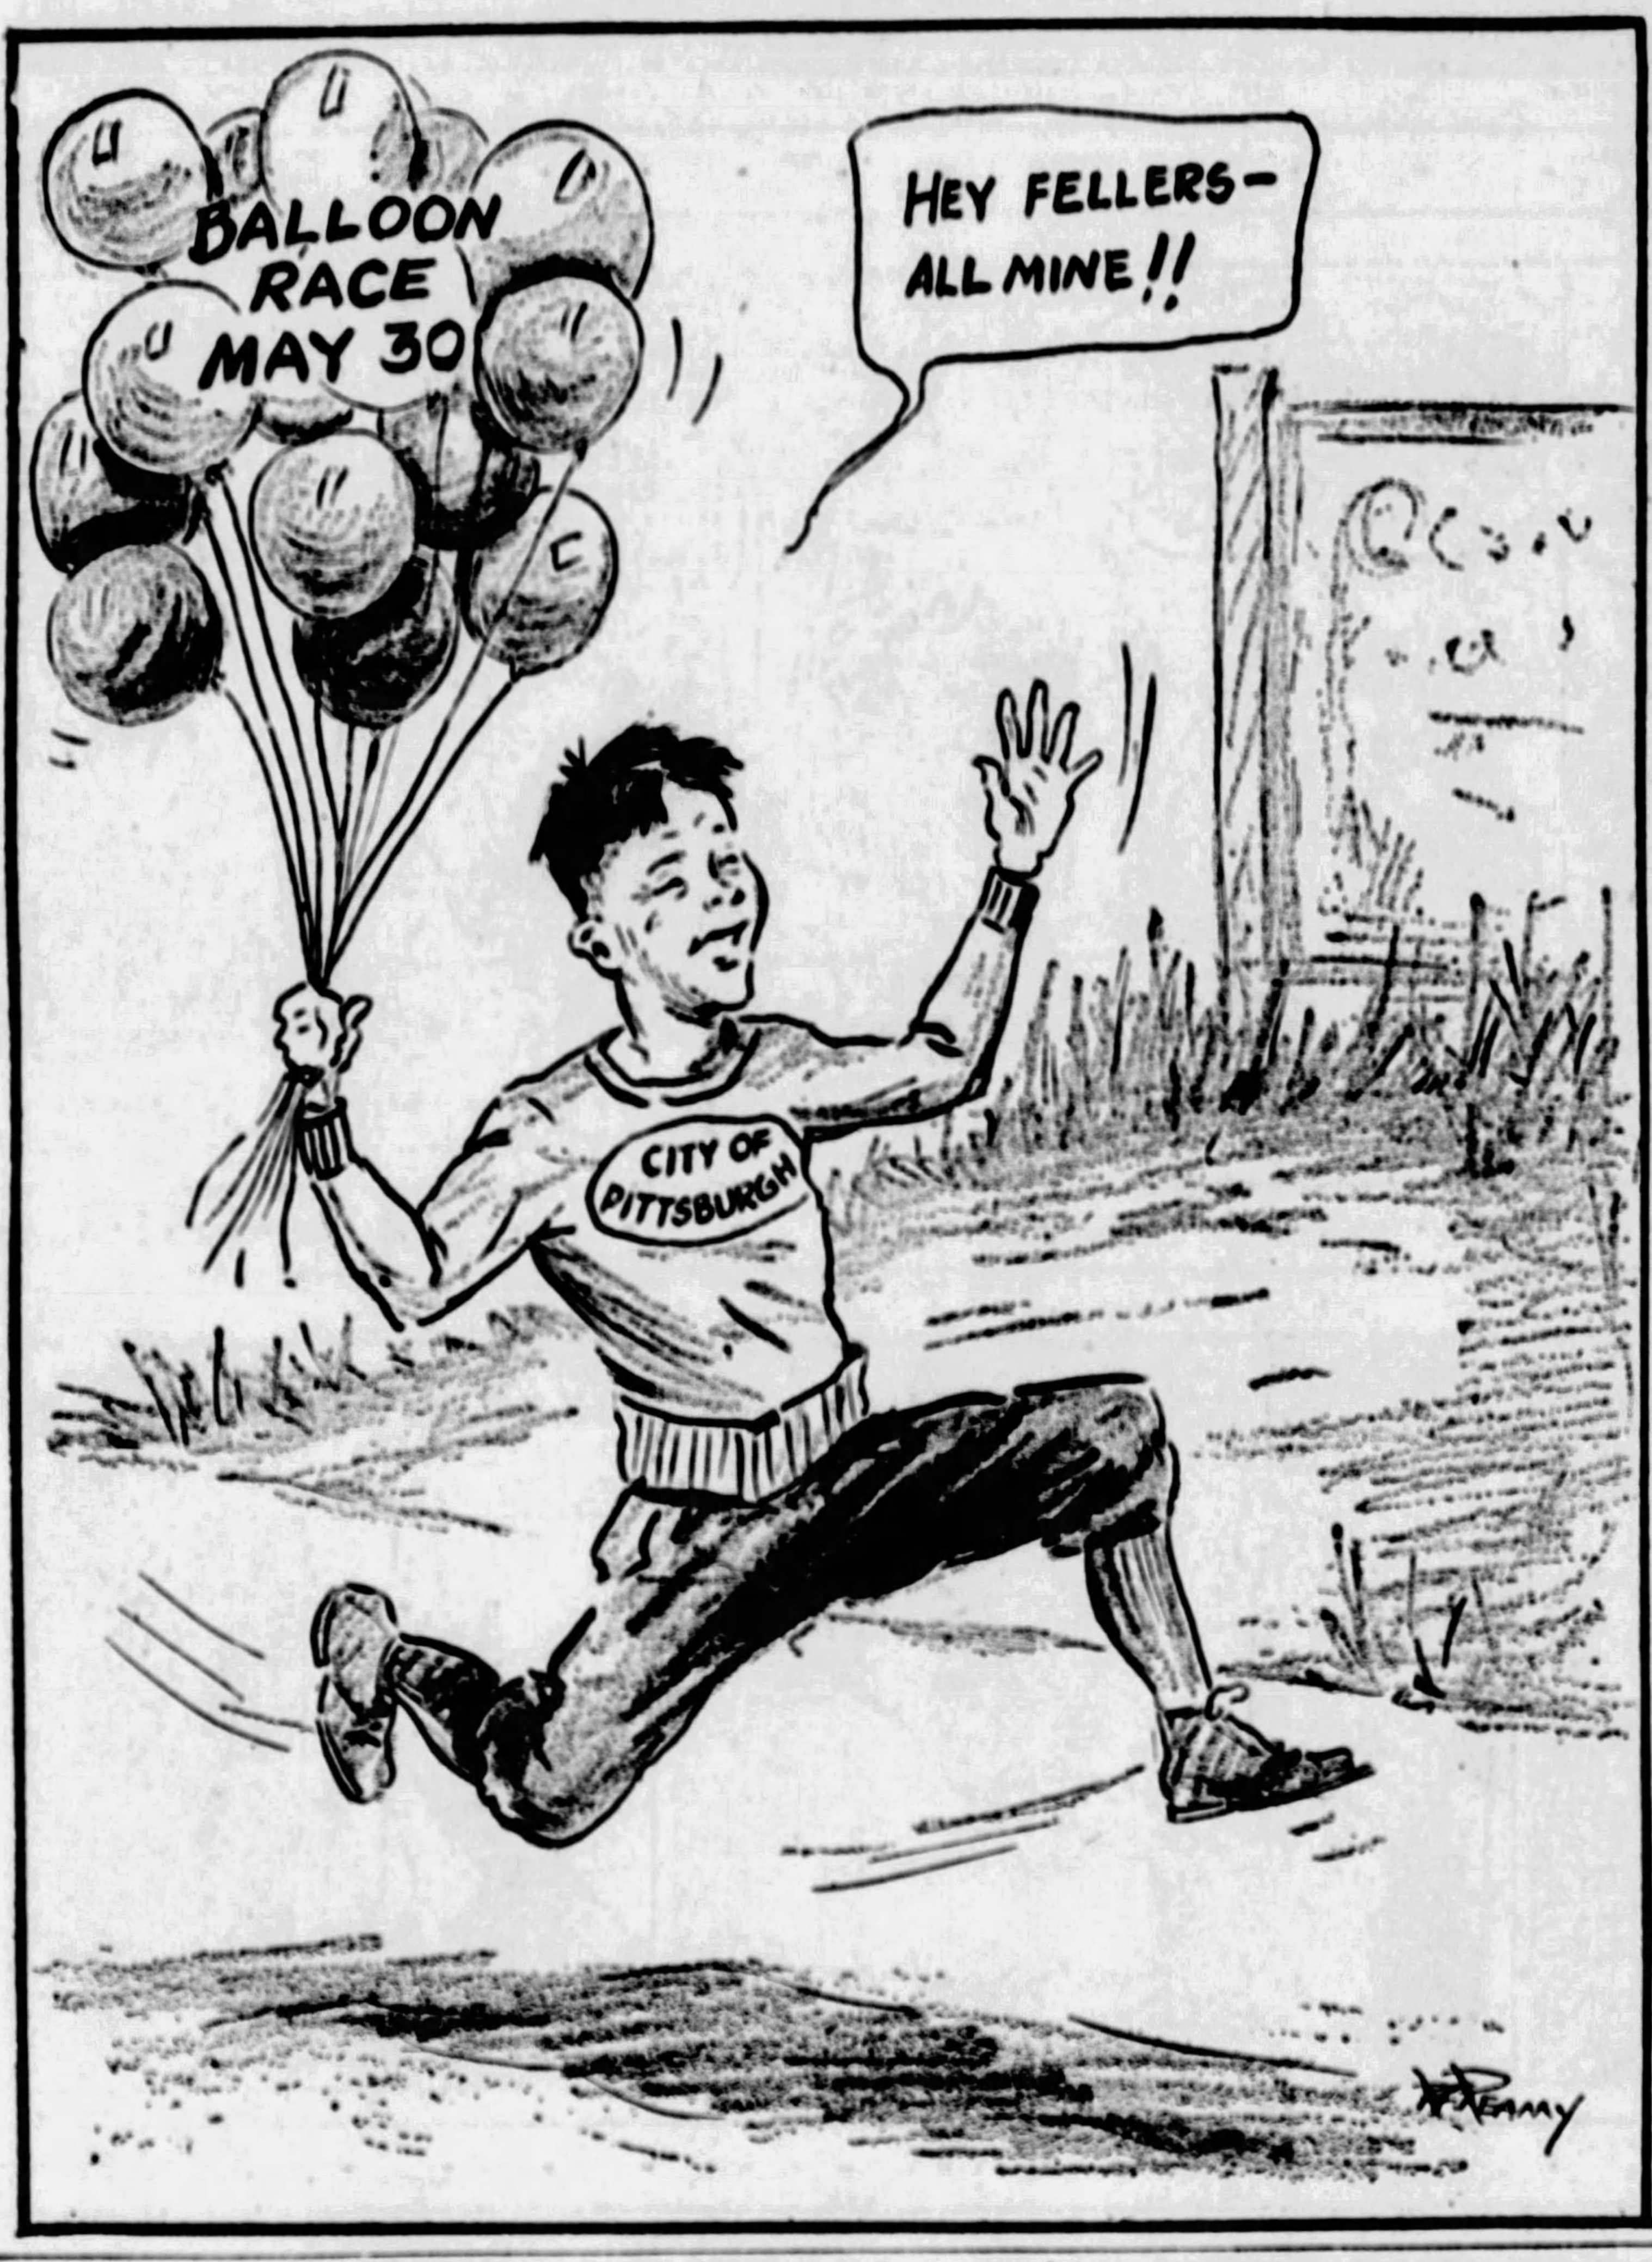
It is said that a people is most likely to be civilized if its legal clothes are a good fit.

If it has grown out of them, or if, in a spirit of intemperate optimism, it has made them several sizes too large, it will show an increasing tendency to leave them off except on state occasions.

When the jail is full, it is very often a sign, not that there are a lot of bad men about, but a lot of bad laws.

Anyhow, why not let the people say what they think about prohibition in a national referendum? What objection can any honest dry offer against that?

LOOKIT!

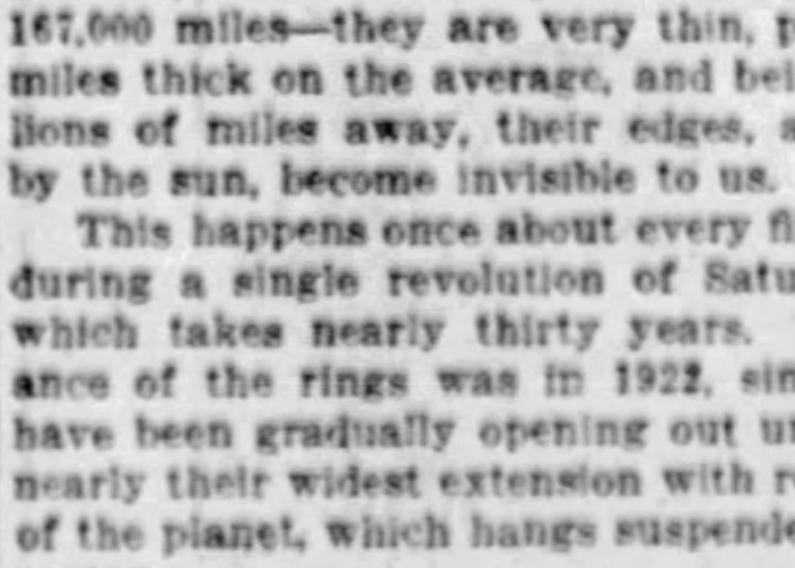


Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Saturn

ABOUT 11 p. m. now the planet Saturn may be seen rising close to the eastern horizon, above the up-lifted sting of the Scorpion. Saturn will be the planetary phenomenon of the early summer months, his huge rival Jupiter being over on the other side of the sky in the neighborhood of the sun. During May Saturn will rise earlier each evening, and by the opening week of June he will be in opposition to the sun, thus rising about sunset and reaching the meridian at midnight.

All observers are agreed in regarding Saturn with its rings as the most beautiful telescopic object in the solar system and perhaps in the universe. It is the wonderful rings, hanging in strange silvery splendor, one within another, directly over its equator, that give Saturn its pre-eminence. Nothing else quite like them has ever been found in the heavens.



Present aspect of Saturn

These rings are not always equally visible from the earth, and at certain times they disappear completely except from very powerful telescopes. This happens because, notwithstanding their enormous breadth—about 167,000 miles—they are very thin, perhaps not over ten miles thick on the average, and being hundreds of millions of miles away, their edges, although illuminated by the sun, become invisible to us.

This happens once about every fifteen years, or twice during a single revolution of Saturn around the sun, which takes nearly thirty years. The last disappearance of the rings was in 1922, since which date they have been gradually opening out until now they are at nearly their widest extension with reference to the poles of the planet, which hangs suspended like a ball at their center.

The cause of the variation in the appearance of the rings is that their plane is inclined to the line of sight from the earth, so that twice in a revolution they are presented exactly edgewise toward the earth.

Avoid Snap Judgments

ARE you quick to judge and condemn on circumstantial evidence?

Does it require but little to cause you to form a harsh opinion or to charge a friend with disloyalty?

Yet as you look back over your life you may find much that might have been misjudged had your friends chosen to condemn you.

Then why do you so easily believe the worst about others?

Perhaps some of your finest friendships have been destroyed by allowing your imagination far too much leeway.

One must have imagination to get along in the world but it is easy to let imagination go too far.

It is especially easy in judging another's action or words.

Your most intimate friends do not always deem it advisable to explain everything to you.

Nor should you expect to learn their secrets—their private affairs that do not concern you, and to which you have no right.

Tales that are Told

Obvious

AN ELDERLY gentleman approached one of the attendants in the traveling menagerie.

"Can you tell me what that hump on the camel's back is for?" he asked politely.

The keeper scratched his ear.

"What it's for?" he murmured.

"Yes; what use has it?"

"Well, it's pretty useful, sir. The old camel wouldn't be much use without it, you know."

"But why not?"

"Why not!" exclaimed the keeper in surprise. "Well, you don't suppose people 'ud pay sixpence to see 'im if 'e 'adn't got an 'ump, do yer?"—London Answers.

Emergency Treatment

FARMER GILES owned a large number of horses and had a great reputation throughout his county for the way in which he looked after them.

One day the farmer's little boy was accosted by a stranger.

"When one of your father's horses is ill, what does he do?" asked the stranger.

"Do you mean slightly ill or seriously ill?" asked the boy cautiously.

"Oh, seriously ill. But what has that got to do with it?"

"Lots," was the answer. "If a horse is only slightly ill, he gives it tonic; but if it's seriously ill, he sells it."

Well Worth Having

MRS. GABBLE was hardly up to the mark, and her husband decided to take her to a doctor.

The medical man, after a short talk about her general health, produced a thermometer and, placing it in her mouth, made a note of her temperature.

At this juncture the patient's husband clutched feverishely at his arm.

"Doctor," he said anxiously, "what do you want for that thing?" He pointed to the clinical thermometer. "I've never known my wife to keep her mouth shut for so long before."

New York Day by Day

New York Day by Day
by
O.O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, May 1.—There is no place where summer is so welcome in New York as the East Side. Slum dwellers, housed in for the winter, may now lean out their windows, and old men and women seep out to front stoops. The melting pot bubbles.

Children "sewed in" their winter clothes kick off their shoes and stockings and run shouting through the streets in loin cloths. The ancient barrel organ men, who disappear like flies at the first chill, are back again with long forgotten Broadway tunes.

Warm weather brings a spirit of the carnival to the Ghetto. Sidewalks are dotted with little soap box stands dispensing penny colored drinks—red, green, yellow and pink. Portable ice cream carts go through the teeming thoroughfares ding-donging hand bells.

Soon the fire escapes will be ballooned with bedding for the East Side sleepers to swelter through the long sultry nights. Pathetic little flower pots decorate the window sills. Pavements are chalked off for popular hop-skotch games.

Ice cream parlors—so popular with East Side girls and their beaux—have been refurbished, mirrors soaped with fancy flowers and covered with fly netting. Aproned housewives go bareheaded through the streets to their push-cart shopping.

Over on the Bowery the bread line has almost vanished, and that gaunt, drab crowd that clots in front of the rescue missions for hot coffee and a flop has spread to the grassy softness and star-lit beauty of the public parks.

Glum patrons of 25-cent lodging houses no longer sit at upstairs office window—puffing silently at pipes and staring. They, too, are occupying benches in the public square. The cellar coal and kindling shops have changed their signs to "Ice." Summer has arrived on the East Side.

On a recent visit to Paris I introduced a friend to cooked snails in the shell at l'Escargot, the famous cafe where the little black aproned wine waiter resembling Chaplin is always so gravely cockeyed. Usually demonstrative, my friend sat silently on the edge of the chair featuring a clown white pallor and swallowing hard. Afterward, he confessed feeding the snails surreptitiously to my dog under the table.

* * *

The gourmet, however, will tell you if you care to listen that snails are the cleanest and most palatable of the mollusks. Their food is delicate vegetation, whereas the lobster is a scavenger, feeding on offal. Yet the lobster is far more popular. The snail seems too intimately associated with the grub worm for digestive comfort. Incidentally, when the lobster loses a claw it grows another.

* * *

Sea food cafes in America rarely list ice cream on the menu on account of the belief lobsters and ice cream form a fatal mixture. This is not true, according to the best medical opinion. But don't try them out on my say so. I once told a fellow New York streets were safe for pedestrians. He came around to call several weeks later in a wheel chair.

May Day

By DR. FRANK CRANE

It is the first day of May and something is stirring in the blood.

No matter how old and settled we are, we always feel it when May comes around.

When we were boys the fishing pools and the swimming holes and all outdoor things were beckoning.

Nature comes back with a rush in spring and everybody feels it one way or another.

We long to get out of the stuffy house and range the open spaces. The highway calls us. Somehow those gypsy songs proclaiming an open life now seems to pry through us into our hearts.

May day in Europe has often been synonymous with some uprising of the laboring class. They feel the surge for better things. They sense the depressing effect of stultifying labor. The impulse of humanity for freedom springs up in them.

Spring appeals to something in us that defies all traditions, customs and conventions, and lures a man back to get in touch with nature.

It is the season of outdoors and a judicious use of outdoors will cure almost any disease. Most of our physical troubles, and our mental ones, too, arise from sedentary habits and close confinement in heated rooms.

Most creeds were made in closed chambers. That is why they are so belligerent.

If they had been made out of doors under the green trees perhaps they would have said something different about the God of nature and about our human obligations one to another.

It is a good plan to go with your family out of doors. Don't let the youngsters get all the benefits of the open sunshine. Go to the picnic yourself and play a little in the thick grass. The ozone that you get from the out-of-doors will do you good when you get back into the house again.

The whole excursion will refresh you and inject force into all those natural instincts of love that you have for your family. Artificial excitements will seem tame. It is a far cry from a good game of baseball out in the pasture lot to an evening at a night club. The one leaves the blood fresh, the nerves not frayed and the mind clear. You are ready for business the next day. The other leaves you wishing you had never been born and reflecting upon the vanity of all things.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Who Knows?

IT IS but folly, I admit,
To hold such hopes as mine,
Yet, as they harm no man a whit,
Their joys who would resign?

I may not find, some sunny day,
Life sweeter than the rose,
However, spite of all, I may
Find this and more. . . who knows?

Unlikely, so statistics say,
Is great success for me;
And yet, why drive bright hopes away,
Though figures disagree?

I love to think the years will add
Rare poems to life's prose,
And with such thoughts each day grows glad,
They may come true . . . who knows?
